The first traffic death of 1951 in Magic Valley occurred Jan. 6 as the result of an accident in Jerome county.

FIRST FATALITY

As Magic Valley's first traffic fatality for 1951 was recorded Saturday, peace forces were being made to ask state legislation designed to make Idaho highways safer. You'll find stories starting on page one. And don't miss the editorial on page four.

in-Car Crash esults in First Fatality of Year

E, Jan. 6—Baby toys and garments scattered along of railroad right-of-way 15 miles east of Jerome arre touch to the scene where Magic Valley's first ic fatality occurred at 5:50 p.m. Saturday.

tim was Donald G. Berquist, age about 23, who carried identification listing Willow Run, Mich., and Denver, Colo., addresses. He died at about 9:05 p.m. of multiple skull fractures at St. Valentine's hospital in Wendell.

Mrs. Ruth Berquist, 21, wife of the victim, is in "critical" condition in the same hospital. Their infant son, Russell, about 6 months old, escaped injury but is also in the Wendell hospital.

The accident involved Berquist's car and Union Pacific train No. 472, eastbound out of Jerome.

Skidded on Ice

According to train conductor D. D. Darling, Jerome, and Howard Lee, engineer, Berquist was approaching the railroad crossing from the east on a road described as a "sheet of solid ice." Skid marks indicated Berquist applied his brakes to stop for the oncoming train but skidded 81 feet into the path of the engine.

The coupler on the front of the engine tore into the left side of the automobile, carrying it 117 feet down the right of way. Investigating officers said the car was totally demolished.

Taken to Hospital

Passing motorists sped occupants of the car to the hospital in Wendell, where Mrs. Berquist died without regaining consciousness. Mrs. Berquist was unable to provide accurate details concerning the trio or destination.

The railroad engine was damaged temporarily but repairs were completed by the train crew and the train proceeded to its destination at Burley.

Despite hazardous road conditions during the past week, Magic Valley has thus far escaped recording the first traffic death there in 1950. On Jan. 3, one year ago, the first traffic fatality was recorded when Theodore Duncan Creason died in a Cassia county traffic mishap.

General Eisenhower Leaves for Europe to Build Western Army

PARIS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flew in the Atlantic for Paris tonight to try to change a paper army into a living defense of the west.

He will land shortly after dawn Sunday to begin a tour of all the countries banded together in the 12-nation North Atlantic pact to defend themselves against the communist menace from the east.

Here to meet the general were American officials who have been helping rebuild a battered Europe ever since Eisenhowers own armies liberated it from the Germans in 1945.

He has a double-barreled task:

1. He must size up the job—how much of western Europe can and should be defended?

2. He must spark a sluggish western Europe into a belief that it can, and must, defend itself against the communized east.

In a sense, his first task already has been outlined for him. The west has pledged itself to defend western Germany from the east. That is the farthest east defense line that can be set without reaching into territory held either by Russia or by her satellites.

But the next job will in large measure depend on the smiling, graying fighting man, who only weeks ago was called away from his postwar job as president of Columbia university.

As general of the armies that liberated North Africa and then burst into a conquered Europe, Eisenhower is known to be able to turn "hard as nails" to get his way.

Certain European and American quarters almost certainly will urge him to be "hard as nails" to drive France into bolder rearmament than she has yet agreed to.

On his calling list Sunday or Monday will be Field Marshal Lord Montgomery and Gen. Alphonse Juin, British and French field commanders who fought under him in World war, II.

The five-star general took off from Washington airport in an air force Constellation at 12:46 p.m. (EST). His departure attended by President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and diplomatic and military representatives of 12 allied countries, was a full dress military ceremony of unusual splendor.

President's Message Expected To Call for Support of Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—President Truman is expected to sound a strong call for national support of his foreign policies in his state of the union message to congress Monday.

As a possible indication that the President is willing to meet his congressional critics part way in seeking unity, Chairman Connally, D., Tex., of the senate foreign relations committee forecast that congress will be consulted before any binding commitments are made to send further American troops to Europe.

Connally's prediction was made to reporters as Senator Taft, R., O., announced in a speech that President Truman has no authority to assign more troops to Europe without approval by congress.

While Connally said previously he did not need such approval, Connally said that as a practical matter he expected the European military aid program to be detailed to congress as soon as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower completes a forthcoming survey.

After conferring with the President, Eisenhower left for Europe today to make a preliminary survey of his task as allied commander-in-chief.

He left with Mr. Truman's assurances that he has the "full hearted backing" of this country and other North Atlantic pact nations in organizing a defense against possible communist aggression.

Connally told reporters that he is certain Eisenhower's visit "will do much to encourage the free people of western Europe toward rearming to build up their strength to resist invasion and aggression."

Policy Debate Stirred Anew By Taft Talk

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert A. Taft's congressional speech stirred a renewal of "the great debate" on foreign policy yesterday as American leaders split.

A number of the first editorials to appear—in the east and south—carried lukewarm to critical comment on Taft's and Republican's advice to limit United States overseas commitments.

Favor Hoover Plea

A survey of letters to editors had shown these areas also like Taft's favorable to former President Hoover's plea last month for a "western Gibraltar" defense.

Some newspapers in the middle west, where Hoover's proposals got the greatest support in the letter columns, pointed editorial strongly supporting some of Taft's views.

Timing Rapped

The Newark, N. J., Sunday News hit the timing of the speech. It noted that it came on the eve of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's departure for Europe to survey the task of organizing a western Europe defense force.

The News also recalled that Secretary of State Dean Acheson was subjected to a Republican attack at the time of a recent NATO council conference, and commented:

"First Acheson, now Eisenhower receive parting gifts of lethal import from Republicans who cannot agree among themselves on a program for meeting the gravest crisis in modern American history."

Congress Divided On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6—The 82nd congress is sharply divided over the future course of American foreign policy.

But those members willing "to give their views publicly, move lean toward present administration policy than toward the "new look" of former President Herbert Hoover.

In other words, there is more sentiment for the United States to help bolster defense efforts of other, non-communist nations than for cutting off that kind of help until western Europe builds what Hoover called a "sure dam" of its own against red aggression.

The dimension of power is held by those unwilling to commit themselves on and those who call for a middleground approach.

Merit Noted for One Of 5 Fire Proposals

City officials see considerable merit in one of five recommendations made to bolster the city's fire defense facilities, but views others less favorably with respect to need and cost.

The five recommendations were made by Glenn I. Davis, chief engineer for the Idaho Surveying and Rating Bureau, Inc., in a report concerning four fires here in a 32-day period with a loss higher than $1,500,000.

City manager William R. Smith pointed out only one of the recommendations was new. Others have been on record and under consideration as long as 10 years with cost being the limiting factor.

Like Alarm Idea

Gaining strongest approval from city officials was Davis' recommendation that standard public fire alarm service be provided. Smith also expressed satisfaction for the engineer's helpful study of the local situation.

The bureau had recommended a standard public fire alarm system in a report made May 2, 1940. Fire Chief L. T. Bartlett pointed out it would be expensive to install a complete alarm system costing possibly $200,000.

Build As Can Afford

But he, Smith and Public Safety Commissioner Orville Chaney agreed the system could be started on a small scale in the business and warehouse districts, and be enlarged over a period of years to cover the entire city as the budget allows.

The system would provide immediate alarm system for persons who discover a fire but cannot get to a telephone, as well as for householders who do not have telephones.

Pocatello, Boise, Malad, Lewiston and Wallace have such systems.

Urges Investigation

Commissioner Chaney said he believes the alarm system recommendation should be investigated before the city's next budget is prepared, with the idea of starting it on a small scale.

Two firms in the warehouse district now have direct wire bell alarm systems to the fire department.

Castleford Woman Picked for Board

Mrs. Rachel Miller, Castleford, was appointed Friday to the Magic Valley Memorial hospital board of directors to fill the unfinished term of the late Albert Heller.

The appointment of Mrs. Miller was announced by Commissioner L. W. Hawkins during the regular meeting Friday of the county board of commissioners. The vacancy was created by the death of Mr. Heller Dec. 29.

Farm Institute Plans Set for T. F. County

Program planning committees representing the cities, farm, and home groups of the Twin Falls county farm institute in Buhl, Castleford and Twin Falls met at 8 p.m. Thursday in Buhl to outline activities for the third annual meeting of the institute on Jan. 16-17-18 and 19.

The programs at the three meetings closely parallel one another, G. W. Daigh, county agricultural agent, said. Sessions for men will be conducted both morning and afternoon. Women's activities will be conducted only during the afternoon.

Opening Sessions

The opening morning session will consist of panel discussions on irrigation efficiency and allied subjects. Moderator during the discussions will be Lizer Spence, University of Idaho extension department conservationist. The sessions will include speakers and representatives from various agencies representing irrigation practices.

Two speakers will discuss three subjects during the second morning session. Each subject should be of direct interest to all farmers and homemakers attending the meetings.

Social security for farmers and homemakers will be one topic of discussion by Robert Wilson, University of Idaho extension department marketing specialist. "Prices and Your Purse," a talk on marketing outlook, will be the title of a second talk by Wilcox during the second morning session.

Second Speaker

A second speaker will discuss the testing and utilization of sugar beet seed selections. Dr. George Rush, plant breeder, Amalgamated Sugar company, will be the speaker.

Women's subjects during the first afternoon will include a report on the recent White House conference in Washington, D. C. The speaker will be Mrs. Doris Stradley, county

India Causes Fear on Role In Next War

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—India's quest for a neutral position in world affairs is causing deep-rooted fears among defense chiefs of the British commonwealth.

The possible role of India's millions in any future war has become the main though publicly unmentioned concern of the commonwealth prime ministers' conference under way here, sources close to the conference said today.

Need India

India wants to get along with both east and west. Yet many strategic planners in the free world think that without India's manpower and supply facilities, southeast Asia could not be held against the communists.

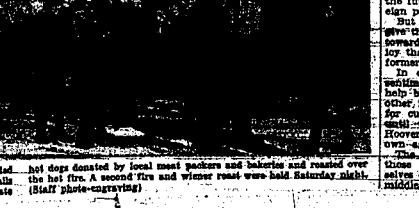

And without India's backing, some feel, it would be difficult and perhaps impossible to hold the middle east.

Role Is Vital

India thus is regarded as vital. Yet it has become known that Prime Minister Nehru came to the London conference only on the understanding that India would accept no role in commonwealth defense or sacrifice her neutrality.

The Indian position presumably was discussed today at an informal conference of leaders of the non-Asiatic commonwealth nations. They met with British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Sir William Slim, chief of the imperial general staff, and Admiral of the Fleet Lord Fraser, Britain's first sea lord.

Wonju Fight Rages As Reds Attempt to Cut Escape Routes

TOKYO, Sunday, Jan. 7 (AP)—United Nations troops today fought a bitter defense of Wonju as onrushing communists flowed past the key road-rail hub in driving 60 miles deep into central South Korea. Chinese and Korean reds were racing down the middle of the peninsula toward Taegu in an attempt to cut off U. N. forces retreating from Seoul and pin them against the west coast. With Taegu the reds would sever the escape route back to the old Pusan beachhead in southeast Korea.

The general U. N. retreat continued. An eighth army spokesman said the only real contact between allied and red forces Saturday and today was in the central sector.

In the west, Suwon and its big airfield were abandoned to the reds. Suwon is 20 miles south of Seoul. The airfield is three miles north of the city.

In the east, the allies gave up that last toehold north of the 38th parallel. The eighth army said U. N. troops on the sea of Japan coast were "withdrawing to pre-determined positions."

The communist force of 210,000 smashing at Wonju on the east-central front was trying desperately to flank the U. S. eighth army retreating from Seoul and roll it up against the Korean west coast.

Duel Over Wonju

Red and allied artillery duelled over Wonju, a key road and rail point. Its entire civilian population had fled.

A red probing unit of about 4,000 men was reported by the U. S. eighth army to be 15 miles southeast of Wonju, heading for Chechon. Chechon is another key point on the main rail line from Seoul to Taegu.

Three hundred to 400 advance men of the unit were last reported about five miles from Chechon and about 60 miles south of the 38th parallel boundary of South Korea.

Weak Attacked

In the red drive directly against Wonju, AP Correspondent William C. Baring reported from Wonju at 8:30 p.m. today that enemy forces were east and west of the city and making a frontal attack from the north.

AP Correspondent Don Hoth reported from eighth army headquarters that the reds overran a command post and mortar position north of Wonju. Allied artillery dispersed reds attempting to remove their dead from the field after that battle, he said.

Ordered to Withdraw

General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters confirmed that United Nations forces in Korea's central leadership is withdrawing to better defense positions under extreme communist pressure.

MacArthur's summary said red troops were massing in the Hongchon-Kapyong area northwest of Wonju.

These forces were elements of Chinese and North Korean units

Fiscal Problems Termed Greatest Headache of U.S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Dworshak says the fiscal problems induced by the defense effort probably will be the biggest headache of the 82nd congress.

He anticipates an administration request for $70,000,000,000 or $75,000,000,000 next year. Then, he told a reporter, it will be necessary to increase federal revenue or inflation will be accentuated by deficit spending.

"With the exception of the time spanned by the 80th congress, when the Republicans were in control, we have had a succession of annual operating deficits for many years," he said. "We have had many crises and emergencies which were used to justify federal spending far in excess of income.

"The free world is dependent on the United States for guidance and leadership in these chaotic times. Therefore, it is important that we do not so weaken our own economy that we will be unable to resist aggression."

First Meeting on Handicapped Children Planned for Tuesday

The first in a series of public meetings on the problem of handicapped children will be held at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday in the Lincoln school auditorium, Mrs. Thomas E. Hovenden, chairman, announced Saturday.

"How to secure mental and emotional health for our children" will be the theme of the four-survey program sponsored by the parent education committee of the Lincoln PTA.

Participating in the roundtable discussion Tuesday night will be Dr. Leonard Kreikamp; Leslie Jackson, county attendance officer; Mrs. E. L. Knight, supervisory nurse for the south-central district health unit, and Mahlin S. Hansen, Filer high school teacher.

At present, no facilities are available for such children in the area, and the committee hopes to determine Kenyon Burough, an interested public, according to Mrs. Hovenden.

Members of her committee, Mrs. Keith Evans, Mrs. Leo Norris, Mrs. Leonard Lingwall, L. Z. Rossedaul and Mrs. Hale.

Laws' Effects On Auto Use To Be Aired

In addition to new developments in the field of traffic safety legislation, other matters on the agenda of the Magic Valley safety conference's legislative committee probably will include resolutions passed at the valley-wide traffic safety conference Nov. 16 in Twin Falls.

Purpose of the traffic safety conference was reduction of carnage and damage on Magic Valley highways. The legislative committee meeting Wednesday afternoon in Jerome will follow up conference resolutions which included recommendations that:

The present state motor vehicle mechanical inspection law be enforced.

Funds be made available to adequately properly the existing state drivers' license law.

The state highway patrol be put under civil service and expanded.

A long range highway program be developed.

The present law be enforced and the conference's legislative committee investigate a financial responsibility law which would require the obtaining of liability insurance as a prerequisite to the issuance of a

Interest in questions raised at the last Twin Falls Safety council meeting regarding legality of present drivers' licenses and existing state highway patrol merit system laws has resulted in scheduling a meeting of the safety conference's legislative committee.

Blaine County Prosecuting Attorney Joseph McFadden, chairman of the committee, has set the meeting for 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Jerome district courtroom.

McFadden and other Magic Valley attorneys, judges and police officers promised Saturday that 1951 would bring increased efforts toward safety in an attempt to cut the fatality toll as low as possible.

Blaine County Sheriff L. R. Cox commended drivers for meeting the challenge of icy roads during the first week of 1951. He urged them to remember that the safe speeding of vehicles demands that they be careful and courteous.

Blaine County Probate Judge Ivan Wright questioned a possible lag down in the safety campaign.

"At the meeting held in Twin Falls, all present agreed that the real problem as to what should be done with the serious traffic violators," he said. "The question now arises, are we still meeting squarely these problems, or, are we too prone to listen to the defendant's side of the story?

Combat Duty Is Urged for 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Major military leaders urged Saturday that youths 18 and combat duty for many of them were advocated today by Senator Martin, R., Pa., only retired military general in the senate.

"The 18-year-old makes a grand combat soldier," Martin said, adding:

"There is no question that this group can supply sufficient of the present selective service age quota."

Leaders in both the senate and house announced that hearings would begin shortly on selective service proposals for drafting new manpower.

These include revisions of the draft act that would lower the minimum age from 19 to 18½, and reduced services from 21 months to 27 or possible 30 months, and cut down on deferments and exemptions.

But after a talk with President Truman at the White House today with other congressional leaders, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, D., Tex., said that the armed services prepared their manpower hearings on Wednesday.

"Secretary of Defense Marshall will present the administration's recommendations," Johnson, chairman of the senate group said. He quoted President Truman that Marshall will speak for all agencies of the government involved in the manpower question.

Johnson said congress July 2 and under it the defense department already has called for induction of 240,000 young men in the 18-26 age group during the January-March quarter of this year.

Drunk Driver Called Minor Death Factor

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Drunken driving was listed as only a minor factor in the nation's 804 traffic deaths over the 101 of the New Year's week traditionally the wettest period in any year.

The butcher of the highways was, as usual, the motorist willing to take chances in a gamble with death.

This was indicated today in a nationwide Associated Press survey of traffic accidents. The information was obtained from police records and safety agency reports, where available.

The survey showed:

1. Reckless driving—driving too fast for road, weather or traffic conditions—killed 108 of the 804 deaths for which specific causes were listed. Other drive negligence or misbehavior, excluding drunkenness, caused six more deaths.

2. Drunken driving, according to police records, was directly responsible for only seven of the 186 deaths for which causes were listed. A total of 39 pedestrians were killed, at least 30 because of their own negligence.

Weather Gets too Cold for Comfort, Drops Outa Sight

It was fair and cold and Magic Valley sunned itself Saturday and Sunday and snowed itself Saturday night.

The ranger station at Magic couldn't agree with the temperature reading there because the mercury broken thermometer and couldn't swear up hill and down that it was 10 below zero Saturday morning as was indicated by the cold weather.

Unofficially, it was four below at Ketchum Friday night and was expected to go lower than that the sun came up Sunday.

Conservatively speaking, it was plenty cold in the Magic Valley.

superintendent of schools, who attended the meeting and served on a committee.

The second afternoon women's session will include demonstrations on cake decorating, illustrated lectures on color in the home and panel discussions on youth welfare.

Joint meetings for men and women at the three locations during the second afternoon will consist of speeches by Don Bailey, Twin Falls, Chamber of Commerce speaker, who will address the assembled groups on the "Freedom Foundation"; Don Mitchell, University of Idaho extension director who recently spent six months in the Netherlands as a delegate of the 4-H club, and Dr. Wayne Smith, professor emeritus, University of Idaho. Dr. Smith will deliver a talk entitled, "Mental Health—Mental Hygiene."

A theme adopted by the program planning committee for the forthcoming meeting will be in keeping with the current international unrest—"Conservation on the farm and in the home a good defense measure."

The various committees in charge of program arrangements are Buhl, Marvin Ingalls, chairman; C. T. McNealy and Maurice Capps; Twin Falls, Donald Murphy, chairman; L. R. Davis and C. W. Daigh; Castleford, Earl Bird, chairman; Chris Heselholt and Claude Brewer.

The Jan. 16 and 17 meeting in Castleford will be held in the gun club rooms and at the Methodist church.

The Jan. 17 and 18 meetings in Buhl will be held in the Cosy theater and the Moose auditorium. Afternoon sessions will be held in the Ramona theater on the first afternoon and the Cosy theater the second day.

Twin Falls headquarters have not been set definitely, Daigh said.

Former Resident Of Rupert Passes

RUPERT, Jan. 6—Mrs. Emma Eleanor Bringhurst Bateman, former Rupert resident, died at 12:30 a. m. Saturday at Payette.

Mrs. Bateman was born in Taylorville, Utah, Feb. 14, 1879, and was married to Orlando James Bateman 39 years ago in the Salt Lake City LDS temple. They came to Almo 38 years ago and 11 years later moved to Rupert where they lived until 1916 when they moved to Payette.

Surviving besides her husband, are two sons, Paul Bateman, Rupert; and John B. Bateman, Payette; and four daughters, Mrs. Ralph Swan, Rupert; Mrs. Rex Cammill, Oakley, Utah; Mrs. Floyd Fails, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Atha M. Baddley, Pasadena, Calif.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m., Monday at Rupert and at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the LDS tabernacle in Rupert with Bishop Arlo Smith officiating. Burial will be made in the Rupert cemetery under the direction of the McCulloch funeral home, Burley.

State Commission Will Ask 3 Laws

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Enactment of three measures will be recommended to the 31st Idaho legislature by the state commission on uniform laws.

Jess B. Hawley, jr., secretary, said the recommended proposals include a uniform support law to force deserting husbands to support their families and a pre-natal blood test for pregnant mothers and an act authorizing admission in evidence of micro-filmed records.

Hawley said the act to force deserting husbands to support their families will allow such husbands to be returned from other states. He said heretofore it has been "too easy" for a husband to avoid his responsibility by crossing a state line.

Assembly Slated

HAGERMAN, Jan. 6—Supt. Cle Prince has announced that another national assembly program featuring the Mels marimba players will be held at the Hagerman high school at 12:50 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 17.

County Officers To Repeat Oath Here on Monday

Newly elected and reelected Twin Falls county officers will take their oaths of office at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the county commissioners' office.

The only two newly elected officers are Max Lloyd, who succeeds Graydon Smith as prosecuting attorney, and Frank L. Parker, Republican commissioner candidate for the county board of commissioners, succeeding DeWitt R. Young. Neither Smith nor Young sought reelection.

Reelected office holders, Sheriff Jesse Carlton, County Assessor Clifford R. Thompson, County Treasurer Rose Wilson, County Recorder Charles Bullen and Commissioner George Sims also will be sworn to succeeding terms.

The routine will take place in the commission office when Commissioner L. W. Dewey, first swears in Charles Bullen. Bullen in turn swears in Childs and Palmer. Hawkins then administers the oath to Lloyd and all reelected county officers.

Deep Freeze Cold Hits in Midwest

By The Associated Press

The kind of cold only the deep freeze lockers gripped upper midwest areas Saturday. The cold was spreading southeastward, moderating on the way.

A cold wave was expected to bring zero temperature to Chicago overnight.

Ahead of the cold front, snow piled up in a one to five-inch blanket from Wisconsin eastward to upper New York state.

Fair and cold weather prevailed in the western states, with Ely, Nev., reporting one below.

Less Enthusiastic

With respect to costs, the officials took a dimmer view of the bureau's recommendations for more firemen and a ladder truck, recommendations made in previous reports.

City officials opined the bureau is supported by fire insurance companies and understandably wants the ultimate, not just the adequate, in fire protection.

The bureau's first recommendation is for the immediate addition of 10 more firemen and the purchase of an aerial ladder truck, which in turn would need more men.

Would Cost $30,000

The city manager said hiring 10 more firemen would cost the city $30,000 annually for their wages. Chaney said the addition of fewer men could be obtained for the next year if the budget allows.

In 1940 the bureau recommended four more full-time firemen plus 10 to 12 volunteers. Now, in 1949, the bureau recommended a department of 38 full-time men, plus a ladder truck requiring 14 more, a total of 52 full-time firemen.

Tremendous Cost

"The city can't afford that many firemen," Chaney declared. "That would be nearly one-half of all full-time city employes." He said a 52-man fire department would cost the city $150,000 a year for wages alone, at a tax rate of 17.5 mills in comparison to the present budget's wage of $61,620 at a seven-mill levy.

The fire chief said he considered his department overmanned for 95 per cent of its call but explained, "It's the other five per cent we have to look out for."

Two engines, each manned by a captain, engineer and two firemen, answer 90 per cent of the calls, Chief Bartlett said. A third engine is manned by two men and a call man remains at the station.

Not Out of Line

The officials agree Twin Falls is not out of line in comparison with other cities of similar size with the exception being rates is up to par, all are undermanned.

Turning to the aerial ladder truck, the fire chief saw disadvantages in the truck's initial cost plus its not being needed often. He saw advantages in having it for rescue work and as a water tower.

An aerial ladder truck will cost approximately $30,000, or a 3½-mill tax increase. Its purchase would mean either enlargement of the present fire station or construction of a sub-station.

The present station needs additional $10,000 to $15,000 in repairs, Chaney said, and is being considered for next year's budget in light of benefits received from previous repairs and remodeling.

Difficulty of Rescue

The fire chief said he would hate to have to rescue anyone from a three-story building if only conventional ladders or last-resort emergency nets. He sees rescue work as an aerial ladder truck's principal value. He said the city has been fortunate to get by with what equipment it has.

He also saw value in having the aerial ladder truck for use as a water tower, particularly in fires of the nature of that at the Northrup, King and company seedhouse warehouse here a year ago which would have crushed ground ladders.

City officials, however, are considering buying a second ladder truck, if funds can be budgeted for that purpose.

Officials Puzzled

The officials were somewhat puzzled by the bureau's recommendations for "powerful stream appliances" and "that a comprehensive system of fire alarm boxes be transferred after that specified by Chief T. P. Treadwell, be installed and diligently followed."

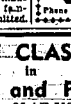

Treadwell was brought here from Fort Collins, Colo., by a previous administration to set up a training program. He also recommended a fire prevention bureau. The city's new job classification system provides a fire inspector to head the fire prevention bureau.

Followed Closely

Chief Bartlett stated Treadwell's program is being followed closely and that the drillmaster soon to develop between the Treadwell program and the present program. All possible use is made of a training tower, including smoke for the first stages of training, which includes classes on fire hydrant location, fire prevention and fire fighting. The fire inspector takes each fireman on periodic tours for orientation on building characteristics, fire prevention methods and safety facilities.

As to nozzles, the fire chief said the department has straight bore models for volume and spray nozzles in Bugs, producing a fine spray in fighting petroleum fires. The department also has a big deluge gun. He said he considers the department well equipped, but said he is concerned for the possible addition of a water tower on a ladder truck.

Panel Urges State to Pay Soil Expense

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The state soil conservation commission today urged a state appropriation to cover its expenses and suggested that elementary and secondary schools of Idaho teach soil and natural resources conservation practices.

The commission in its biennial report to the legislature asked the state to appropriate funds "in sufficient amount to take care of the necessary expenses of the commission in holding hearings and elections, conducting referenda, advising district supervisors concerning effective ways of carrying on work and in furthering the activities of the district."

The commission has operated its past 11 years without any state appropriations.

It also suggested that the soil conservation program be encouraged by the state in order that the districts could cooperate with other state and federal agencies to further establishment of land conservation practices.

The commission suggested that information dealing with conservation of soils and other natural resources be specifically a part of the high school vocational education program and should be integrated into several elementary school subjects.

Jenkins Elected By Country Club

Heading the slate of officers of the Blue Lakes Country club in 1951 will be Glenn E. Jenkins, who succeeds Miles J. Browning. Ralph Bacon was elected vice president, succeeding Bert A. Sweet.

Traffic Drive Continuing as Parley Slated

tions throughout Magic Valley and the state of Idaho is the only just course to follow," he continued. "If this policy, as adopted, is carefully followed violators will know that our laws have the 'drift' to stop many future violations."

From Lincoln county, Sheriff Earl Clayton and Prosecutor Howard E. Adkins stated:

"We are pleased that there was no traffic fatality in Lincoln county in 1950 and hope that this record can continue through 1951. We feel that the vigilance of our officers and this safety movement have contributed materially to lessening accidents and rendering the public safety conscious.

Will Continue Efforts

"Lincoln county officers will continue every effort to keep down accidents. We wish to stress the importance of the press and radio in keeping this safety movement before the public."

Police Chief W. L. Austin, Shoshone, said, "In my opinion the last I have seen a material difference in the way people of this state handle their cars. And, this definitely have been fewer traffic violations since the program inaugurated by the Magic Valley safety conference has been put into effect in this area. Worst violators now are out-of-state drivers."

Education Needed

According to Lincoln County Justice of the Peace Ivan Dee, "The moral trouble is that a big percentage of the drivers are not familiar with traffic laws and safety driving." He suggested a major traffic laws be printed on the driver's licenses so they will be warned constantly.

"Every traffic violator brought into my court is questioned on his knowledge of traffic laws and safe driving methods and I find many are ignorant of both," he added.

Appreciation Voiced

Twin Falls Police Chief Howard Gillette expressed appreciation for the fine cooperation his department has received from the public, press and radio.

He promised that in the year ahead there will be more rigid enforcement of traffic laws and that the driver who has no regard for the rights or safety of others will "find the going rough" here.

Next Meeting Goal

Citizens and drivers also were commended by Sheriff Jesse E. Carlton who said the county goal for 1951 is the same as it was in 1950 and that he promised full cooperation with Dr. Frank J. McAtee, new Twin Falls Safety council president.

Cassia county Sheriff Saul Clark reported the recommendations of the safety conference are being followed in his county and that all attempts will be made to reduce the accident death rate. He cited the possibility the "Spotter's club" may be revived to assist law enforcement officers.

Brannan Predicts Increase in Meat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan predicted today that unlimited corn acres will increase the nation's meat supply by at least three pounds per person this year.

Brannan, who yesterday removed all restrictions from corn and wheat acreage, said "more corn means more meat."

Brannan's prediction was supported in government estimates that there are 2,000,000 more cattle on U. S. farms than a year ago. A larger-than-average spring pig crop also is expected.

Brannan wouldn't say meat supplies will be "ample" to satisfy money-laden consumers. But he said prospects indicate that no one will lack enough meat this year.

There was enough meat available during 1950 to supply each person with 145 pounds. Brannan expects this to rise to 148 pounds this year as the result of expanded livestock-feeding operations.

Potato Producers Back Ban Action; Handlers Opposed

IDAHO FALLS, Jan. 6 (AP)—The recent action of the Idaho and Eastern Oregon Potato Committee restricting the movement of all grades less than U. S. No. 1 potatoes is a regulation supported by the producer members of the committee and was opposed by the handler members.

Melvin Stratford, executive secretary and manager of the Idaho Potato and Onion Shippers association in Idaho Falls, making that statement, said yesterday he was referring to the ban placed on the lower grade potatoes by the secretary of agriculture following a recommendation passed by the potato control committee.

Stratford went on to say that "the modified recommendations made this week at a meeting in Pocatello to allow the shipment of No. 2 potatoes provided they are graded to an eight ounce minimum, is a compromise."

Stratford pointed out that the control committee is comprised of five producer members and three handler members, and that a majority vote of five is required to make or rescind a recommendation from the committee.

"Any further action on the restriction voted in by the producer members of the committee will have to come from them because they hold the majority vote on the committee," he said.

Reports, Debate Feature Meet of Grange at Bliss

BLISS, Jan. 6 — Reports were heard during the business session and a debate featured the program at the Bliss Grange meeting Thursday evening.

Arthur Butler reported on rural route mail service. Fred Carson reported on insurance and the secretary said the group now has 51 members with two more to be added at the next meeting.

The debate topic was "Resolved, that instalment buying on the farm is advantageous to the farmer." Taking the negative were Mrs. Blake and Bob Butler. V. W. Carson and Arthur Daniels took the affirmative. Judges were Mrs. Emma Ayres, Arthur Butler and R. W. Carson. The negative team was judged the winner.

Songs were sung by the group and Florence Cutright gave a reading.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Slane.

Mrs. J. Hanevor, Pocatello, was a guest.

Next meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Fred Lock, Gooding, as speaker. His topic will be fire prevention.

Returns Received By Farmer Co-up

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Prices received by Idaho farmers on Dec. 15 were at their highest level since 1948, the U. S. agricultural department said today.

*The department said that the av*erage index of prices was higher in 1950 than ever before with 299 points higher than in 1948. The index of crop prices was 18 points lower than in 1948, and was the lowest since 1945. Prices of livestock product prices were 26 points higher than in 1949, but lower than in 1948.

An increase of $1.20 was reported on lamb prices per hundred from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15. Beef prices were up 10 cents during this period, eggs were up nine cents a dozen, hogs dropped 60 cents and wool was up 75 cents. Potatoes dropped five cents a bushel and hay dipped slightly. Prices for other crops were either steady or up.

The Salvation Army has rented the building on Third avenue north, and volunteers have spent several weeks in decorating and preparing it for occupancy. The lieutenant said the store will be a small but the finest clothing department operated in Idaho by the Salvation Army.

Clothing donated by local residents will be sorted, mended, laundered, cleaned and made ready to wear. The income from its sale will go to pay overhead expenses of the department, and any profit will go into the Salvation Army relief fund.

Lieutenant Montgomery emphasized no clothing would be for sale for profit or in competition with any local merchant. Operation costs are estimated at $4,500 annually and must be met from income realized from the sale of donated clothing.

Otherwise, the lieutenant explained, such a project would be impossible.

Spring Swine Sale Set for Filer Feb. 12

FILER, Jan. 6—The third in a series of spring swine sales will be held at Filer Feb. 12, T. C. McNeal, president of the Idaho Swine Producers association, announced Saturday.

The first of the four sales will be held Feb. 9 at Caldwell, the second Feb. 10 at Moscow and the last Feb. 13 at Blackfoot.

All of the sales are open to producers from Idaho and other states. In the past the sale at Filer has attracted consignments from Washington and Oregon. As in the past, the association will sponsor a swine judging contest in conjunction with the Filer sale. Purebred gilts will be awarded to top judging individuals in the 4-H club, FFA and veteran training groups. Winners of purebred gilts in contests last year will contribute the top gilts in their litters as this year's prizes.

Members of the Southcentral Idaho sales committee are Wayne Lewis, Declo, chairman; R. H. Monroe, Twin Falls, vice chairman; W. G. Priest, Minidoka county agent, secretary, and Tom Parks, Filer, treasurer.

Lewis has appointed Leslie Jackson, former agriculture teacher, to supervise the judging. Robert Kerns, Twin Falls county club agent, will head the 4-H division; Clarence Beckman, Castleford agriculture teacher, the FFA division, and Henry Rhode, Heyburn, veterans trainee division. The sale will be held on the Filer fairgrounds with Col. E. O. Walter, Filer, as auctioneer.

City Skating Pond Being Flooded

Eager neighborhood children were on hand minutes after city firemen began wetting an area in Jaycee park to be flooded for iceskating. With their backs to the camera are Asst. CHIP CHAT

by O. J. "Chips" Bothne

Hallo Folks: Yes it's true, I am in the chips . . . SUNRISE POTATO CHIPS. When you buy Sunrise Potato Chips, everybody gets in the chips.

The housewife gets in the chips because she gets more for her money. In Sunrise 50c package, as an example, she gets 5 ounces of chips, where all other brands only give her 4¼ ounces. When you buy those crispy delicious Sunrise Chips, the Magic Valley producers of potatoes get in the chips, because Sun Rise uses only those best of all Magic Valley Spuds. No Canadian spuds for us.

O. J.

The local business men get into the chips, because the money spent in salaries and wages is spent right here in Magic Valley. The city, county and state taxing units get into the chips because we have our plant here in Twin Falls.

You see what I mean when I say everybody gets in the chips. Now I know we must have top quality in order to justify asking for your business. We are sure that we have. Try a bag of Sunrise Chips and prove the quality for yourself. I'll be back again with another column later.

Appreciately yours,

O. J.

$2,025 Requested From Ex-Partner In District Court

A $2,205 judgment is sought in a case filed Friday in district court by the Professional Adjustment bureau against Ralph E. Funke and Fred Ivie, former partners of Charles B. Bridges in the Tri-State Advertising agency in Twin Falls.

The amount asked in the complaint allegedly is due Bridges who sold his interest in the business in October, 1947, to Funke and Ivie for $3,700. According to a contract drawn among the former partners, Bridges was to receive an initial down payment of $1,000, the balance to be retired by periodic payments in amounts ranging from $150 to $225. The complaint says Bridges received his initial down payment but after installments on the balance totaled only $570 payments ceased and $2,205 remains unpaid.

The adjustment bureau to whom Bridges assigned the account for collection asks judgment in the amount of the unpaid balance on the contract plus six per cent interest from Sept. 18, 1948.

J. H. Barnes represents the adjustment bureau.

GUIDED MISSILES—

No military man belittles the value of the atomic bomb. But more than a few of them persistently declare that it should not be regarded as a "new" weapon. As they see it, it's just a much bigger bomb.

The military's greatest enthusiasm these days is reserved for something else—the guided missile. The idea of delivering an explosive more or less exactly on target from distances ranging from a few hundred feet to perhaps 1,000 miles is revolutionary.

There aren't any guided missiles capable of use at long distances yet. And only our high military men know what we have developed at shorter range. But indications are plentiful that this research has the highest kind of priority in our planning.

Air Secretary Thomas Finletter recently told a congressional group that guided missiles are our best hope for effective air defense of the American mainland. Without them, he declared flatly, we can't count on keeping more than a fair percentage of enemy aircraft away from our cities.

Great faith is placed on a guided artillery missile, too. Before the Korean war some promising things were said about this type of weapon. But now, not surprisingly, a veil of complete secrecy has been drawn over this project.

Earlier evidence shows, furthermore, that extensive experimenting with long-range guided missiles has been going on. This is possibly the toughest aspect of the problem, and progress likely is still slow.

The United States brought over some German specialists who had worked on the nazis V-1 and V-2 weapons. Neither of these can be considered "guided" missiles, but research on them was basic to the more advanced weapons.

All these efforts have acquired marked urgency not alone because of their inherent value in the minds of our military men, but because the Russians are also believed to be pushing guided missile work at a fast pace.

We've all done much worrying about whether the Soviet union has the atomic bomb in any quantity. If our top soldiers are right, we might be as much or more concerned over their development of guided missiles. The experts don't believe the wild rumors that they have a weapon which can be fired 3,000 miles. But they are troubled by the prospect the reds may have one capable of effective use from the decks of submarines or battleships.

Moreover, there's a feeling the Russians may be concentrating on guided weapons for their own rapidly developing air defenses. If they should succeed in this effort, it might go far toward nullifying the great advantage we now have from superiority in atomic bombs.

The general reaction was that the Korean war debunked the idea of "push-button" warfare such as might be waged with guided missiles. But the fact that fighting there has been remarkably like the traditional combat of old should not blind us to the need for going at full speed in the development of these advanced weapons. If and when a test comes, it'll be safer for us if we have the most buttons to push.

A GOAL FOR 1951

We know it can become boring and monotonous to our readers—all this appeal to our law enforcement officials, our prosecuting attorneys, our courts and the general public, in a continued all-out effort to fight the frightful toll of death and destruction on our highways.

But in the belief that human lives are worth saving, the Times-News will continue its appeals for united support in this connection throughout 1951. In so doing it asks for its readers' indulgence.

The all-time record of 43 killed on Magic Valley's highways during the year 1950 should serve as a challenge to everyone living in south central Idaho.

Not only should we be ashamed of all this needless slaughter on our highways, but it should be ample warning that even more will be killed this year unless we put forth an even more concentrated effort.

We must face the problem squarely, honestly and with grim determination.

In making this appeal to all concerned once more, the Times-News would like to offer a suggestion—that the people of Magic Valley set for themselves a real objective, with each and every community working conscientiously toward that end.

The objective: CUT OUR HIGHWAY FATALITIES IN HALF IN 1951!

That's not a goal impossible to achieve. It's entirely possible if we'll all do our part.

Nothing could be more commendable, when this year 1951 comes to an end, for the people of Magic Valley to point to the accomplishment of more than 20 lives having been saved as a result of their combined efforts.

When that time arrives, let's see if we will have been successful in holding down the number of automobile fatalities in Magic Valley to no more than 20.

Let's also bear in mind that all the lives thus saved might include yours, someone in your family, or one of your dearest friends.

Let other people gab about themselves and they think you are very interesting.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international politics and personalities. Address your letters to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—"What are those Republicans doing at Washington?" explodes Mrs. M. I., Charlotte, N.C. "Taft wants to delay action on a new war powers bill. Capehart insists on senate approval of Truman-Attlee agreements. Senate Republicans want Acheson fired. Don't they know there is a war, and that we need national unity as never before?"

CAUTION—Answer: Mrs. T's query is understandable. To the faraway reader it must seem that the Republicans are slowing down the emergency machinery set in motion so efficiently by the administration. There is blame enough for both sides.

However, I think there is immediate and historical justification for senate-house members, including both Republicans and Democrats, who urge caution in passing extraordinary legislation which may have consequences on the books for many years, possibly a generation.

FACTS—Taft asked delay and greater consideration for a hurriedly prepared bill that gives President Truman power to reshuffle executive agencies almost at will. Under it the President could wipe out, combine or create virtually any government unit.

But the presidential spokesman could not tell just how much new authority the measure carried. He did not know what agencies were to be affected or why. Yet there was the same old grant of broad power frequently given to the executive in moments of hysteria, to the detriment of the legislative and judicial branches, and to the people generally.

Similar doubt exists whether any Truman-Attlee agreements need looking at, the memory of pacts concluded secretly at Yalta, Teheran, and Potsdam justifies extreme caution. The committee wants what a President says or does that affects the nation's welfare, and security.

FEDERALISTS—"The World Federalists," complains H. C. W., Williamstown, Mass., "are just another leftist group planning to help take us over. They are secretly fighting the United Nations. They have a simple plan—get a committee of their scheme, and when 32 states are in line, a constitutional convention becomes mandatory."

Answer: I think my reader, who adds he is a retired army officer, is worried unnecessarily. I have many good friends in the movement, and we fight constantly over the question.

The one-worlders are neither "leftist" nor "vicious." They have a fine and high ideal, but it won't work in this world. Until they can change human nature, their scheme will remain only a sweet dream.

Perhaps some day we could have the kind of universal system they seek. But wishing won't give it to us, and we should not be sermonized or philosophized into letting our powder keg wet while we stand around and wait for the gentlemanly of mail.

Let 'em dream, major!

PLOTTING—Mrs. L. N. W., Blowing Rock, N. C., chides me, albeit gently, for a recent column in which I contrasted the personalities of the Roosevelt-Churchill leadership to that of Truman-Attlee.

"Truman and Attlee are hand-picked stooges," she writes, "when compared to Roosevelt and Churchill. But I beg to remind you that it was the latter two who bankrupted the firm Truman and Attlee are trying to save. But no matter."

"Was 'the former naval person' the nom de plume he used in his communications while Churchill was still only first lord of the admiralty? That was during the period when Churchill became prime minister, to order, to conduct the war they had decided to wage.

INFORMED—Yes, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt used that title, "former naval person," both before and after Churchill became prime minister. The "prime" sent about 950 confidential messages to the White House in this way, and received about 800 in reply. Mr. Churchill used to send his notes to our embassy whence they were dispatched by a special coding machine.

It is true that Mr. Churchill began this man-to-man correspondence while he was still only the first admiralty. But he maintains that he kept the war cabinet informed at all times, and that he had their sanction for this more prompt and personal exchange of views.

As to their "deciding to wage war," it was my impression that Hitler began it.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

WHY AMERICANS MUST BE THERE

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts understands better than many of his colleagues how west Europeans feel about the struggle between east and west. "When you've got those Russian divisions 150 miles away, you're not going to appreciate it when some American who is 3,000 miles away gets up and sounds off all the time, saying just whatever he happens to think of when he gets up for breakfast," he noted.

Such sounding off is one of our congressmen's most jealously guarded prerogatives. Some of them have done it again with the ink barely dry on the Brussels agreements for the defense of the west.

Senators of various political persuasions are viewing with alarm plans for increasing United States armed forces in Europe. Some want to know just what the western European members of the North Atlantic community are planning to do for themselves. Others want American forces in the far east boosted first. These remarks indicate that Senator Smith of New Jersey is right when he said it would be a mistake to send any more troops to Europe without the approval of leaders of congress. There seems little doubt that the President has the power to build up American strength in Europe without congressional approval.

But in a matter as grave as this one, individual congressmen ought to understand clearly what the venture is and why it is being undertaken. Any some of them, apparently, do not understand now. It seems particularly important to show them the urgency, for psychological reasons, of increasing our armed forces in Europe.

Many west Europeans need to see concrete evidence of America's determination to help them resist the Kremlin before they will boost their own efforts. They remember this country's isolationism all too well, and fear that we may again desert them and withdraw within our own borders. The statements some congressmen are making have enough of an isolationist ring for foreign ears to intensify those doubts.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FEET ON THE GROUND

If there is any one military lesson Americans need to let sink in more deeply than any other it is the fact that successful defense is not a matter of having a spectacular halfback but of having a balanced and integrated team.

Gen Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the United States air force, gave some wholesome testimony along this line before a house of representatives subcommittee which seeks to have canceled plans to put nearly all its resources into long-range, intercontinental bombers. General Vandenberg depicted in a much more cooperative light the function even of strategic bombing.

Naturally the top airman is concerned with knocking out the arms manufacturing potential of a supposed enemy. But he does not forget "the everlasting glory of the infantry" when it is the Private Rodger Youngs on the ground who make the enemy expend his material and who stall his conquests until attrition from bombing and blockade can have effect.

It is reassuring that top policy for air is governed by such realism. For defense is not all at stake on ground. It is all three.—Christian Science Monitor.

MORE ANENT GOODINGS

Dear Sir:

It has indeed given me great pleasure to see the correspondence entered into after my letter to you was printed in your paper. How very interesting to learn the history of your township Gooding and the strange coincidence of names.

So many coincidences seem to form a link of friendship and one son, John Gooding, is thrilled to know there is a John Gooding in Gooding; and at the Lincoln inn it seems we tie up again as we live in Lincolnshire.

It is nice to think we have something in common and so gratifying to think your paper followed up the correspondence. I had many nice letters from your American people, all full of friendship and kindliness, to me that is written proof of the friendliness of your people. We are so much better off for knowing of your people on your side of the Atlantic and your people very friendly letters bridge the Atlantic and make us feel much closer to you.

May I wish all of you a very Happy New Year and may it bring peace and prosperity to you all.

WAY BEHIND

Dear Pots:

Under the election system of our democratic nation, the people, known variously as constituents, great unwashed and suckers, elect representatives to lead the nation. These representatives are known variously as leaders, politicians, statesmen, bureaucrats, tax-eaters, or any of a rare collection of less printable words.

The suckers expect their representatives to be leaders, following the wishes of the suckers. It's apparent they are suckers. Now it appears that when something becomes just about as obvious as a boil on the end of your nose, the suckers have to lead the way, dragging the "leaders" along with them.

SEND 'EM HOME

Dear Shooter:

For months this problem of communists has been gnawing away at me. Now I see a way. Quick, go peals and what have you has bothered me a lot.

Here these communists plan to take over our country, probably establishing something like the "people's republic of America" or something equally phoney.

Why do we continue to let them use our democracy to hide behind? Instead of letting them have honest trials, why not just export all of them to Russia?

I'm sure their punishment in Russia for failure would be better than anything we can do to them.

WASHINGTON COLUMN BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Debate on U. S. foreign policy will unquestionably be the number one issue before the new 82nd congress.

The President will ask for up to $75,000,000,000 for defense in the next fiscal year.

He will probably get them. After all, they're only dollars, and the issue persists that national security is priceless.

Peter Edson

If the President asks again for a lot of his old fair deal proposals, he will probably not get them. There will be a great deal of quibbling over non-defense items of federal spending, without much real economy being effected. Pork-barrel-minded congressmen have long had the old "unnecessary-for-national defense" label on their pet projects to get them a higher priority. That's the traditional way. But this time all these things are done or not done, the debate will return to foreign policy. The reason is simple. There is still so much uncertainty and difference of opinion over what should be done.

Speeches of congressmen, senators, Truman, Hoover and would-be Presidents Dewey all reflect this uncertainty. Everyone speaks by instinct. The inspiration is confusion, hysteria, fear, prejudice, anger. There is not nearly enough thinking things through to see what the effects would be if some of the wild proposals now being made were adopted.

But this is the American way of doing things. It is a source of strength as well as a weakness. It is the town-meeting, democratic process in action. So out of the millions of words, the woman and printed on the record of the next congress, some course of action will be charted that will make sense. That is the hope, anyway.

In the grawing at straws during the last session of the 81st congress there were many utterances that were both ill-informed and contradictory. They amounted to arguing on all sides of every question. They would be highly amusing if the situation were not so serious.

A common complaint received from around the country is that "the people are way ahead of Washington" in wanting all-out mobilization. The inference is that the department of defense is moving too slow in building up the armed forces and in filling war contracts.

At this same time, there are frequent reports that this sentiment for isolationism is increasing. The implication is that Washington is leading the country hell-bent for a war that people will not support. The two ideas don't jell.

The people will argue seriously one minute that "we ought to bomb Moscow." And the next minute, with an equally straight face, they will say that the country probably will have a war against Russia, and that "we ought to get out of Europe and Asia."

This is how inconsistent some thinking has become.

The United States has gone through two World wars, unprepared and really unentangled. The reason is that all the battles have been fought on foreign soil.

Yet now the isolationists would have the United States withdraw from foreign lands. This would invite the next war, if and when it comes, to American shores.

A main strength of America today is its superiority in atomic bomb production. This, is recognized generally.

What is not recognized is that if the United States were to withdraw to the North American continent, it would lose its Belgian and British allies who control the Congo and South African sources of uranium ores which now give it atomic superiority.

Similarly, if the United States walks out on Indonesia, Malaya, Ceylon and the rest of southeast Asia, this country loses valuable supplies of raw material like natural rubber and tin. Cutting this country off from the rest of the world can mean economic suicide.

A complaint is made that U. S. tariffs, now at their lowest point in history, are destroying American industry.

The point ignored in this argument is that unless foreign countries can sell to the United States, they cannot earn the dollars needed to buy American exports. It is a case of either getting these countries back into shape where they can pay their own way, or else supporting them indefinitely.

A common criticism of aid to Europe is that the European allies are not dependable. On the other hand, there is a great build-up for further aid to nationalist China, which has more than demonstrated its dependability.

All these countries are, of course, pitifully weak. Some—like nationalist China, Germany and Greece—have not recovered from the last war. Others like Indonesia, India and the Philippines are new and united. But they must be helped, because the United States is going to need every friend it can muster before it gets through this mess.

Visitor Here From England

A touch of almost Victorian England came to Twin Falls in the person of Hilda Orchard, a native of Englishland, Somerset county.

She arrived here on a visitor's visa in October to visit her sister, Mrs. Frank Hicks. Mrs. Hicks had been to England during the summer to visit her family and when she decided to return to Twin Falls she brought her sister with her.

Miss Orchard "definitely" is an English conservative and considers Winston Churchill the greatest statesman in the world today. She condemns the Labor party for breaking up the estates of British lords through inheritance taxes. "The upper classes are the real gentle folk of England," she comments sadly. "But they and their estates are being eliminated."

She also thinks the Labor government has moved too fast in its nationalization program and has created sudden financial deficits for the government. Government ownership and operation of one industry, it carried out at all, should be on a sound basis before more nationalization occurs, she says.

She also is opposed to the socialization of medicine in England and says people take advantage of the free medical service to the point where doctors are overworked.

A doctor, finding his waiting room jammed with patients, will ask how many of them have colds. Miss Orchard explains. He then will give the same prescription to all those who answer and then send them on their way. She would rather pay for her medical care and have it more personal.

This is the first trip to America for Miss Orchard but her sister has been to England four times since she settled in Twin Falls 20 years ago. Through her visits "home" Mrs. Hicks has remained almost as British as her English sister.

Mrs. Hicks also has brought English merchandise back with her from each of her visits to England. Her home is filled with such things as English silver and China, furniture and even a brass gong from India.

Mrs. Hicks, still speaks with the British accent she never lost, loves to display the artwork she has brought from England. And as she shows it and comments on the quality of English workmanship, her sister smiles with pride. To Miss Orchard, England is synonomous with quality.

Miss Orchard is proud of her country and, as she talks about home in her clipped British accent, the hedgerows and stone fences of England become vivid in the listener's mind. The mystery of middle-class life in the old country make her living there sound idyllic in spite of the austerity demanded of citizens for the postwar recovery.

However, she admits she enjoys the "luxury" of living in America for awhile and she wants an extension to her visa so she can stay longer.

She arrived in Twin Falls at the height of the area's worst October dust storm and says she nearly turned around to go back to England. "The dust was piled up on everything in the house a few hours after we got here," she explains.

Another thing she found disappointing about America is the vast distance one travels without seeing anything different. "On the way from New York to Idaho," she says, "I dozed on the motor coach across Nebraska and Wyoming. Every time I awoke I saw the same view I had seen before I went to sleep."

But she considers much of the scenery beautiful. She amazes her sister because she likes to look out the kitchen window each morning and see the snow-covered peaks of Mt. Harrison and Mt. Independence. "Snow - capped peaks are new to me," Miss Orchard comments.

She also thinks the Snake river canyon is beautiful and the large rocks are "God's monuments."

The English woman is an outstanding example of the gentleness, humor and courage which have made England great. She laughs as she tells of her life in England and she comments without complaint on the hardships of life in wartime and postwar Britain.

Since she was a girl she has been a sempanologist, or bell-ringer, at Portishead. She comments with pride that the bells which were heard over the radio just before King George VI delivered his Christmas message this year were the Portishead bells.

"If I had been home I should have rung the bells then," she explains.

Although the village bell-ringer is an important job she also found time to be a music teacher, church organist and housekeeper for an uncle.

In commenting on the difference between England and Idaho the first thing she mentions are the highways. "English roads are far better," says Miss Orchard. She admits that English roads are not as straight and that travel is slower, but the grading and surfacing of British roads are better. "From southern England, through the midlands and to Scotland this summer we didn't hit any of the bumps your highways have," she added.

She also is sure that Hansen bridge will collapse into the canyon in the future. She was standing in the middle of the bridge not long ago to see how long a dropped object would take to hit the water. As she stood leaning over the railing of the bridge a car passed over the structure. "One of those slats or whatever you call them jumped up and struck me on the heel," she explains.

Miss Orchard's main means of transportation through most of her life was a bicycle, but she chuckles about her taking up the motor scooter recently.

"There were only two women in the village who rode them," she says, "and I count as women interrupt their conversations over fences to turn and stare at me as I rode by on my 'Corgi'."

She adds that she had the regulation English sign on the front and back of her scooter to warn other traffic she was a "learner."

Mrs. Hicks refused to let her sister bring the motor scooter to Twin Falls because traffic in this part of the country is too fast to be safe.

Food is one of the scarce items in England and Miss Orchard enjoys the breakfast available in Idaho. Back home in England each person is allowed only 14 cents worth of meat each week and, since meat is high-priced in England, that is a small portion. Other rations for each person include one egg a week and one-fourth pound of currants for the season.

Poultry and fish are not rationed, but turkey costs almost $1.50 a pound, so few people eat much of it. However, fresh trout and salmon from English streams are better than the commercial fish we can buy in Idaho, the Englishwoman explains.

Education in Russia begins at the age of 7.

She Asks Difference Between Atom Bomb and 'Slow' Killing

Editor, Times-News:

To me it's sickening to hear how unGodly it is to use the atom bomb in war, a bomb that's supposed to kill thousands at one time, but never a word of protest of killing thousands over a period of six months or so.

And when I hear someone say "Christian America," that makes me even sicker—a nation that sends troops 7,000 miles from home to kill or be killed for communism when they should be home killing communists.

If and when that nation is full of them as they tell us our nation is just that and from the stench coming from the nation's capital as well as the U.N. assembly I'd say they, the commies, are mostly running both places.

We never knew very much about communism until the past 16 years, did we? And the present leaders are merely trying to follow the Roosevelt pattern. We better not change horses in the middle of the stream. If the old horse sinks us, well, most of us can swim out, so please, let's don't insult Almighty God, or the word Christian, by calling America "Christian."

Jaycee Chairman Gives Thanks to People for Help

Editor, Times-News:

The businessmen of Twin Falls and the various city departments deserve a vote of thanks for their cooperation and willingness to help the Jaycee bonfire and wiener roast a success. I believe the people of Twin Falls should know of these generous contributions.

Trucks were furnished for collecting trees by Jesser Equipment company, Detweiler Bros. Inc., Ralph Harris Moving and Storage, Kyle Waite, Warberg brothers, and the city street department.

Wieners were supplied by the Independent Meat company and the Idaho Packing company. Buns were supplied by Royal bakery, Electric bakery, Albertson's bakery, Eddy's bakery and Holiday Bakery.

Our thanks go also to the Twin Falls fire department for being on hand during the fires.

The members of Twin Falls did their part in making this event a success by putting trees out where they could be seen easily to be picked up.

The bonfire-wiener roast was well publicized by the Times-News, KVMV, KTFI and KLIX.

Burley Accidents Listed by Police

BURLEY, Jan. 6—Burley police reported three minor accidents today, the first early Monday morning by Donald Culley, 22, Burley. He told police an unknown driver rammed his 1946 sedan as it was parked at 1610 Hansen avenue. Damage amounted to $50.

Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. a 1941 convertible, driven by Opal Morton, route 1, Burley, and a 1939 sedan, driven by Ethel Robinson, Burley, collided at the intersection of Overland and 16th street. Both cars were damaged considerably.

Slippery roads caused a collision at 8:40 a.m. Tuesday at the intersection of 16th and Overland when a car, driven by Fred M. White, Burley, had stopped at a stop sign and was rammed from the rear by a car driven by William E. Caldwell, Burley. Both motorists were unable to stop because of the slick roads.

Confessions Solve Vandalism Series

A wave of vandalism which played havoc with Twin Falls and Filer lots during November was considered solved Saturday after three youths completed detailed confessions to the acts. City police, who questioned the youths during the week, said the youths are 11 and 12 years old.

Among the places which had reported misdemeanors and other damage were Spence Motor company, Ainsworth Motor company, Douglas-Lincoln-Mercury, Inc., Pierney Motor company and the Twin Falls Auto Exchange.

Damage reported to the cars included bent aerials, broken window wings, burned upholstery, dead batteries and missing keys. Police said the youths sat in the cars and listened to the radio until the batteries went dead and whenever they discovered an extra set of keys took one set for a key collection.

License Revoked On Traffic Count

Viola Johnson, 38, 38 Washington Courts, was fined $10 and assessed $3 costs in justice court Friday after pleading guilty to running through a stop sign at Fourth avenue south and Minidoka avenue.

The fine was suspended and, in its place her driver's license was sent to the department of law enforcement with the recommendation that it be suspended for 30 days.

She was cited by a state highway patrolman Thursday afternoon.

PHONES EXTENDED

KING HILL, Jan. 6—Extension of telephone service east of town is nearing completion. The line has been installed and several telephones have been installed in ranch homes.

He Sees Move to Get 'Dictator' in Schools of Idaho

Editor, Times-News:

Do we want a dictator? Some powerful influence in our educational system is fighting hard and if they get their way on some of the school laws to be introduced to our lawmaking body we most certainly will have dictation as far as our taxes for school buildings and the people having any voice about children are concerned.

One bill, as I understand it, is to take away the authority of that 60 per cent of the people vote, and give that power to our school committee. The other is to give the power to the county school board to bond and tax the people as they see fit.

And if this latter bill should pass, Idaho won't have any tax valuation to back the national defense in a very short time. For we will be in such a large school housing program it will break the taxpayer.

We merely say it is time the taxpayers were awakened.

Service Held For Paul Callen

JEROME, Jan. 6—Funeral services for Paul R. Callen were conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. William F. Prosser, pastor, officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Rice sang a duet and Keith Johanson sang a solo. Mrs. Gerald Dellinger was organist.

Flowers were arranged by Mrs. Clark Heiss, Mrs. E. A. Garretson, Mrs. Robert Daley, Mrs. Fred Otto, Mrs. Wilburn Turner, Mrs. Charles Chambers and Mrs. Marvin Cole, Shoshone.

Honorary pallbearers were R. G. Freeman, Clark Heiss, Oscar Stuhlberg, Ted Chamberlain, Oliver Phillips, Wilburn Turner. Active pallbearers were Tom Callen, Bert Callen, Chris Callen, all Twin Falls, and Gus Callen, Richard Callen and Nuenos Callen, all uncles of Mr. Callen.

Burial was made in the Jerome cemetery.

Hearing Waived On Check Charge

Frank William Weber, 34, Gooding, waived preliminary hearing in justice court Friday afternoon when arraigned on a charge of passing a $5 check without funds in the bank.

He was bound over to district court and is being held in the county jail under $500 bond.

Weber was arrested by city police Thursday and charged with giving a $5 check to Ben Thrall. He has no funds in the Gooding branch of the First Security Bank of Idaho on which the check was drawn, according to the complaint.

Lien Filed

A notice of a federal tax lien amounting to $525.07 against Elmer Watson and Lillian Watson, Castleford, was filed with the county recorder Saturday.

The notice indicates the amount is due for income tax during 1946, 1947 and 1948. It is signed by Parker P. Carver, acting collector of internal revenue.

Author, Traveler to Speak at Town Hall Association Meet

MAURICE HINDUS

Maurice Hindus, author and traveler, will be the speaker at a Twin Falls Town Hall association meeting at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday at the high school auditorium.

Hindus recently completed a tour of the Middle East on special assignment for the New York Herald Tribune and spent six months in Persia, Egypt, Iraq and Palestine. He believes that British influence in the region is on the wane while American influence is increasing. Russia still is on the middle watching and waiting, he says.

Hindus came to America from Russia at the age of 14. He worked with the Russian Doukhobors in western Canada. His articles on the Doukhobors so impressed the editor of Century magazine that Hindus was commissioned to go to Russia to write about collective farming.

The writings of the author in his own land show his love for the country and its people and are a combination of folk-lore, fact and fancy with a background of social significance.

From his articles on Russia grew his first great books, "Red Bread," and "Humanity Uprooted." Books he has written since then include "Green Worlds," "To Sing with the Angels," "The Bright Passage," "The Cossacks," "Modern Russia," "Hitler Cannot Conquer Russia," and "In Heaven of a Future."

At present Hindus is working on two novels and writes articles for several publications.

Nevada Governor Appoints Warden

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 6 (AP)—Former State Mine Inspector Arthur Bernard was named warden of the Nevada penitentiary today, replacing Richard Sheehey, who held the job for more than 10 years.

The appointment was made by Nevada's new Republican governor, Charles Russell. It is one of several he is expected to make after assuming an office that was held by Democrats for 16 years.

Bernard, however, is a Democrat. He was defeated for reelection in his own primary last fall and worked actively after that for Russell's election over Democrat Vail Pittman.

Payment of $755 Requested in Suit

Recovery of $755.63 is sought in a district court suit filed Friday by Roy Wetherbee, route 1, Twin Falls, against Lawrence Boyd, Twin Falls.

Wetherbee alleges he furnished materials, supplies and labor amounting to $503.68 for making electrical installations at a trailer camp in Twin Falls owned by Boyd. In addition, the plaintiff seeks $250 for attorney's fees and $1.75 for filing a lein against the property.

Earl Walker is Weatherbee's attorney.

Shoshone Lodge Installs Officers

SHOSHONE, Jan. 6—C. W. Gwin was installed as noble grand of the Odd Fellows lodge at the last regular meeting. George Young, retiring noble grand, was in charge of the meeting. A large crowd was present. Refreshments were served later at the Manhattan cafe.

W. L. Austin and George Moore, past noble grands, were in charge of the installation service. Others installed were William Haux, vice grand; B. W. Powell, secretary; Joe Myers, treasurer; Delbert Gehrig, right supporter to the noble grand; W. L. Openshaw, left supporter to the noble grand; Omar Shook, right supporter to the vice grand; Ed Byborg, left supporter to the vice grand; J. B. Alexander, warden; Paul Grisham, conductor; Ben Kirkpatrick, right scene supporter; Clarence Gehrig, left scene supporter; Walter Hinshaw, outside guard; Arnold Branden, inside guard, and W. F. Wernicke, chaplain.

Gooding's Sheriff Is Granted Leave

GOODING, Jan. 6—R. E. Cecil, Gooding county sheriff for the last four years, left Friday for Washington, D. C., for special duty with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The Gooding county commissioners have granted Cecil a six-week leave of absence. If, at the end of that time his appointment to the FBI is permanent, Cecil is expected to resign so a successor can be appointed by the commissioners.

While Cecil is on his leave of absence Deputy Sheriff Keith Anderson will be acting sheriff.

Cecil is president of the South-central Idaho Police Officers association and is an Idaho director of the National Sheriff's association.

Officers Retained By Burley Board

BURLEY, Jan. 6—Annual reorganization of the Burley irrigation district board of directors has been completed. J. W. Bodily was renamed president. W. W. Richins, vice president. Frank Redfield, secretary-treasurer, and Hugh Crawford, manager.

Crawford reported considerable installation work was being done in the district, including 51 steel headgates and concrete boxes completed since the end of the season on Oct. 1. There will be 20 more installed before next spring. Ditch cleaning operations are continuing in spite of cold weather.

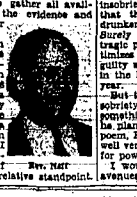

CHURCH DINNER SLATED

FILER, Jan. 6—The Methodist church fellowship dinner has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday at the church.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

Think Soberly

By WILLIS O. NEFF
(Pastor, First Church of the Brethren)

Rev. Neff

It is a hard job, isn't it? Thinking soberly implies the consideration of all angles of a subject and then coming to a logical conclusion. It suggests that we gather all available facts, sift the evidence and then make up our minds.

Of course, when St. Paul gave this advice in his letter to the Roman Christians, he was suggesting that a man think soberly about himself. He should form a proper estimation of himself. Now I find it rather difficult to think of myself from a relative standpoint. My thoughts nearly always tie me up with something else; either things, other people, or God. So it would seem that this passage would be an admonition to think soberly about life and life relationships.

Because of the glaring effects of insobriety we have come to think that the antonym of sobriety is drunkenness (from use of liquor). But we find it is large and often tragic phase of the subject. It victimizes the innocent as well as the guilty and has played a large part in the high traffic toll of the past year.

But there are other forms of insobriety. Kipling was thinking of something entirely different when he planned the lines of his famous poem, Recessional. Time has pretty well verified his suggestion that lust for power leads to undesirable ends.

I would like to point out some avenues where sober thinking is necessary. The war jitters are spreading like an epidemic of measles. Under their influence we do and say things to each other of which we would be highly ashamed if we were thinking soberly.

If we must give up the principles of democracy in order to defend the name of democracy, it is little wonder that we make but slight impression on other peoples. Sure, as the old saying goes, money talks, but not of these days do we need something better than money to bought interest. It is barely possible we shall need some good will.

A second avenue of thinking might carry us into our legislative halls. If and when a rules committee can shelve indefinitely any proposed legislation, bringing to the lawmaking bodies only that which they choose to bring, we have departed, in my estimation, a long way from the idea of government of the people, by the people and for the people.

A third field we might explore is in the area of selfishness. Sober thinking would certainly point out the fact that this characteristic is a destructive rather than a constructive element. We seem so slow to recognize the Christian principle that when one member suffers, all suffer with it and selfishness is, beyond doubt, a root from which suffering stems.

A fourth area for our sober thinking is in our concept of God and our relationship to Him. We sing, "He is the Ruler yet." We pray to Him for peace and we do so rightly. But let's not ex- Him to bring peace in some mysterious way. The Miracle already has happened.

Jesus said, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one cometh unto the Father, but by Me." We are being exhorted continually to get back to God and this is the way to do it. Again Jesus said, "I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture" (i. e. that which he needs). He also cautions concerning those who attempt to climb up some other way.

If there is a miracle, it is in the transformation of men who through Jesus Christ really turn to God. There is no other salvation, now or in the future, in any other procedure.

More Than Half Of Farms are in Idaho Soil Units

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—More than half of Idaho's farms and ranches are located within the 27 soil conservation districts in the state, the biennial report of the soil conservation commission showed today.

The 27 districts comprise 18,101,535 acres or 74 per cent of the state's land area. They embrace 23,479 farms and ranches or 57 per cent of the state's total.

Arable dry farm land in districts total 1,940,028 acres and represents 99 per cent of the state's dry farm agricultural land. Also included within soil conservation districts is 49 per cent of the state's irrigated land area totaling 802,557 acres.

The report said there are a number of places where interest is manifest in the organization of new districts or additions of territory to existing districts.

The report said 6,409 farm conservation plans have been prepared and are being followed by farmers. The farm conservation plans contain such practices as contour farming, seeding of range land in strip cropping, seeding grass and legumes, better irrigation practices and stubble mulching to save the soil.

3 Men Enlist in Armed Services

Enlistment of two men in the army and one man in the air force was announced Saturday by Sgt. John G. Nordhoff, Twin Falls army and air force recruiter.

Lloyd Fern Tankersley, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Tankersley, Jerome, and James Bruce Johnson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher B. Johnson, Burley, were enlisted in the regular army for three years. Both men will be assigned to the airborne units of the army. They have been ordered to Ft. Lewis, Wash., for assignment to their units.

Donald Dean Ubler, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Ubler, Twin Falls, was enlisted for four years in the air force. He has been ordered to Lackland air force base, San Antonio, Tex., for indoctrination training.

BURLEY, Jan. 6 — Alfred N. Knight, Burley, paid a fine of $25 in police court Thursday for running a stop sign on Eighth and Oakley avenues.

Jet Plane Causes California Blast

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP)—A tremendous pressure blast that rocked the Los Angeles area today was caused by a jet plane pulling out of a supersonic dive, military intelligence officials said tonight.

The explanation came three hours after the mysterious "explosion" brought hundreds of calls to police and newspaper switchboards.

No serious damage was reported anywhere, but a few windows were shattered in Long Beach. The shock was felt all the way from Santa Monica to the San Fernando valley, 20 miles inland.

"Some three-high powered jet planes were being tested," a military intelligence spokesman said. "They were at altitudes of nearly 40,000 feet."

One of the new ships went into a 600 to 800 mile-per-hour power dive, he added, and roared through the sonic barrier. "When it leveled off it created a vacuum and caused a terrific blast, like a thunderclap.

Sears Store Here Names Transfers

The appointment of Stanley Parish as assistant manager of the Twin Falls Sears, Roebuck and company store was announced Saturday by Eugene Hammond, store manager. Parish replaces Paul Armentrout who has been transferred to the company's Aberdeen, Wash., store.

Parish was assistant manager of the Caldwell store and was assistant manager of the store at Walla Walla before that. He started with the company at Seattle in 1938.

He served with the army in Europe from 1942 to 1946 and then returned to work with Sears. He was farm store manager at Eugene, Ore., and Albany, Ore.

The new assistant manager has a wife, 7-year-old son and 2-year-old daughter. His family will come to Twin Falls as soon as he locates a home here.

Hammond said the change in personnel was made to give both Parish and Armentrout further experience in store operation.

Bloodmobile Visit Due in Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Jan. 6—Mrs. P. H. Dinsmore, chairman of the Red Cross blood bank unit, urges a large signup of donors for the blood bank here next Tuesday. Donations will be taken from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Lincoln auditorium. The quota is 100 pints of blood.

Shoshone residents may sign with Mrs. Dinsmore; Dietrich residents with Mrs. Ben Walker, and Richfield residents with Mrs. C. M. Pridmore.

Legion Seeks Tide of Toys For Overseas

The Twin Falls American Legion post's "tide of toys" campaign for toys for children of free nations will start Monday under the co-chairmanship of Robert Peterson and Jess Rainbolt. Toys will be collected through Saturday.

The Twin Falls drive is part of the Legion's national drive to send 10,000,000 toys to children in western Europe, Puerto Rico and the Philippines. The toys are donated to the Legion by American children for shipment to their friends overseas.

Builds Friendship

According to Peterson, the tide of toys campaign last year sent 2,000,000 toys to western European children. The Legion believes this generosity on the part of American children builds friendship between them and the children who receive the toys," he commented. "And these children are the adults of the future."

Peterson and Rainbolt urged Twin Falls children to leave their toys at the American Legion hall, Delwetter's or Rainbolt's Delivery service.

No War Toys

They explained that no electrical toys or war-type toys are wanted in the campaign. There are no arrangements for repair of toys so all those donated should be in good condition and sturdy enough to stand the overseas trip.

Children who donate toys may attach a tag with the name and address of the donor. This was done on many toys last year and letters from children who received the toys are still being received by donors.

Nurses to Meet

RUPERT, Jan. 6—Nurses of District 11, Idaho Registered Nurses association, will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Cottage hospital, Burley.

Mary Ellen Carlson, Minidoka county public health nurse, made the announcement. She said the district's new officers would preside.

Lingering Illness Proves Fatal for Ex-Cassia Officer

BURLEY, Jan. 6 — Wilmot A. Sowers, 67, died at 9 p. m. Friday at Cottage hospital following a lingering illness. He was deputy Cassia county treasurer for five years and had served on the board of the First Christian church for many years.

Mr. Sowers was born May 17, 1883, in Morristown, N. J., and had been a resident of Burley for 21 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Allina Sowers, Burley; a son, Wilmot Sowers, Burley; and a daughter, Mrs. Christina Frederick, Burley.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the First Christian church with the Rev. Lloyd M. Balfour officiating. Burial will be made in the Burley cemetery.

Friends may call at the Payne mortuary Sunday afternoon and Monday until time for services.

Nursing Class Set

RUPERT, Jan. 6—A home nursing class will begin at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Heyburn high school.

Mary Ellen Carlson, Minidoka county public health nurse, said the class is sponsored by the American Red Cross.

Man Nabbed for Putting Slugs in Kimberly's Slots

KIMBERLY, Jan. 6—Robert Lee Gilliford, transient, was arrested at 6 p.m. Saturday by Kimberly police who charged him with cheating at a game of chance.

Gilliford was arrested on a complaint signed by Wiley Dodds, proprietor of Dodds cigar store, who said Gilliford had been operating 25 and 50-cent slot machines with bogus coins. When arrested, Gilliford had one remaining counterfeit 50-cent piece in his possession, police said.

Gilliford pleaded innocent of the charge when arraigned in Kimberly justice court Saturday and is being held in the county jail in lieu of $500 bond.

An unknown quantity of counterfeit coins was removed from slot machines throughout Kimberly following Gilliford's arrest, according to police.

RETURNS FROM CALIFORNIA

PAUL, Jan. 6—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clark and daughter, Joanne, and Shirley Clark have returned from a trip to California to see the Clarks' son, Robert, who is in the air force there.

Guernsey Club's Session Planned

The first meeting of 1951 of the Twin Falls Guernsey club is scheduled for noon Thursday at the Filer fairgrounds.

A potluck lunch will precede the regular business session that will include election of 1951 officers. Following the election a meeting of the new planning committee will begin a tentative schedule of activities for the year.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Those brave, sturdy fellows who take the part of Santa Claus at Christmas programs seldom get their full share of credit for the important job they do.

The Santa Claus at the BURLEY Rotary party during the holidays was tall and slim, but with the help of pillows, he filled out the suit. He delivered his gifts with a flourish and might have left the party with his identity unknown to many of the guests had he not given Mrs. Earl McCaslin a big hug and kiss before he left.

And down at the First Christian church in Burley those in charge thought they had their Santa Claus well concealed, but when he bounced in on the stage with a jolly "Hello, Kids!" one youngster in the audience shouted back, "Hello, Pete!" Pete Wall, alias Santa Claus wasn't fooling everyone.

Back in 1944, when Bus Steelsmith was home on furlough from the army, he volunteered to play "Santa Claus" at a church program at DECLO. With no place to don his outfit at the church, he dressed at home, whiskers and all, and started to drive to Declo for his appearance.

Snow was falling thick and heavy, and at the intersection of highways 30, north and south, the busiest highway in this area, Santa Claus had car trouble. There was nothing to do but crawl out, Santa Claus suit and all and with whiskers blowing in the stiff wind and fix the car. One helpful motorist trained his spotlight on Santa Claus to help him with his work while hundreds of other motorists drove by the embarrassed Santa Claus, hardly believing what they saw.

The big Christmas tree, with its hundreds of lights, on the Cassia county courthouse lawn in BURLEY is a living memorial to the boys who gave their lives in World war I. It was bought, as a small tree, from a tree salesman by Hyrum S. Lewis, who set it out with several other trees in his yard near DECLO. When the tree was huge, Lewis wanted to move it to the courthouse lawn in Burley but everyone told him it couldn't stand the move. But it was dug up with hundreds of pounds of soil frozen to its roots and replanted in Burley. And it lived, and has, for many Christmases, brightened the holidays for young and old—and kept alive the memory of the boys "over there."

E. S. True, MURTAUGH, received a unique Christmas present from his son, C. V. True, Boise. It was a recording of his granddaughter's recent wedding in Addis Abba, Ethiopia. His granddaughter now is Mrs. Stanley Cain, the former Bernita True, a former Murtaugh resident. True says he could hear everything that went on during the wedding very distinctly, even to the whispering of instructions from the minister. True is 82 years old and feels it is really something to live in this modern day and age.

Margaret Justice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Justice, one of "The Threes" sent to South America last fall, has written many interesting things about the country and its people to her parents in HAGERMAN.

"The Threes" are something new under the sun. They are young people who are sent out as three-year missionaries. They are trained at the Hartford Seminary foundation, Hartford, Conn., for six weeks and then assigned to mission posts in all parts of the world to work in churches, schools, colleges, hospitals and welfare centers. Those chosen to be "Threes" are screened carefully from hundreds of applicants, all college graduates. Margaret is in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil.

Margaret has been teaching English to the first grade classes and assisting with the recreation for junior high girls and high school boys and girls. She is learning to speak Portuguese in preparation for teaching science next year. She teaches a Sunday school class of girls from 13 through 16 years of age. Lessons are written and taught in Portuguese so Margaret has help from one of the other missionaries who is fluent in the language.

She writes that most of the homes are small and some can boast of only a chair or two. Some families of four or more are living in one room. Some are neat and clean and some aren't. Some Brazilians like this material wealth and will cherish a colored American advertisement they have found somewhere. Despite their poverty they are gracious hosts. It is rare when we are not invited into their homes and usually we are asked to have coffee or something with them. You would love the Brazilians for their warm-hearted, generous hospitality."

Lincoln County's Subsequent Levy Roll Exceeds '50

SHOSHONE, Jan. 6 — Lincoln county's 1950 subsequent tax roll is $131,821, compared to $114,042 last year. The total valuation in the county this year is $6,146,967.80 as compared to $6,103,859.85 for 1949, according to Mrs. Claude Chess, county auditor.

The abstract of the subsequent personal property roll has been computed and sent to the state tax commission, Boise. The roll had been compiled by Assessor Ray Oyer from assessments on migratory livestock. It was presented to the county commissioners for equalization and approval in December. The increase in total valuation is $43,308.04.

More livestock of nearly every kind is noted this year. The roll contains assessment on 18 bulls, 60 head of beef cattle, 166 range cows, 116 yearlings, 24,689 sheep, 120 bucks and 987 stands of bees.

More than half the increase over last year's subsequent roll came from an assessment of $9,980 against machinery drills and rock crushing which came into the county too late for the spring tax roll.

Some day you may be real mad at us

We wish we had time to sit down with everybody in this town and tell 'em personally about the many kinds of modern, inexpensive insurance which most people should carry nowadays.

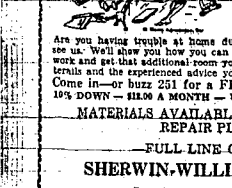

You—for instance—may be pretty sore at us some day if you have a fire, a windstorm, burglary or a boiler explosion, or if you are sued for damages, or lose a diamond ring or a fur coat or a suitcase full of clothes, or sustain some other serious loss against which we could have insured you if we had tried to sell you.

We can't be out selling everybody in town all the time, so won't you help us sell you what you need. Ask us to survey your insurance policies soon and to tell you of any gaps.

Camp Fire Girls' Council Chooses Officers at Meet

RUPERT, Jan. 6 — Mrs. John Bishop was elected president of the Minidoka county council of Camp Fire Girls at the annual meeting held at the Camp Fire home Tuesday.

A potluck dinner was held at 7 p. m. with Mrs. Joe Dolan as committee chairman. The business session followed, presidents' reports, election of officers, and formulation of policies for the year, began at 8 p. m. with Mrs. Grace Bishop, retiring president, in charge.

Other officers and members of the board of directors elected include Mrs. Price Sears, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Hall, treasurer; Mrs. Florence Manning, secretary, and Mrs. John Burnside, regional representative. Members of the board of directors are Ruth Mather, camp committee; Mrs. Reed Hansen, nominating and membership committee; Mrs. Andy McRoberts, extension committee; Mrs. Joe Dolan, social committee, Mrs. Rodney Goodman, training committee, and Dr. E. H. Elmore, building and maintenance. Mrs. Eddie Stefan was reelected camp director. Members-at-large include Charles Whittaker, Mrs. Grace King, Mrs. Larry Griswold, Mrs. John Remsberg and Mrs. Harry Dunn. Two committees, public relations and awards will be appointed later.

A. H. Stevenson, council treasurer, gave the financial report.

Leader's association reported 14 active Camp Fire groups and six inactive. Mrs. King reported that plans are being made to get leaders so the six groups may become active.

There are 199 Camp Fire Girls in the various groups, including one Horizon group, 13 Camp Fire groups, and seven Blue Bird groups. Accomplishments in the past three years include the Camp Fire building, and an increase in membership from 74 to 199 since July, 1949.

The council voted to serve dinner for the Lions charter night at the Camp Fire home in January, with council members, leaders, and Horizon group in charge.

Miss Reese Weds Lloyd Neville in Rites at Church

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 8—Before a background of lighted tapers, tall baskets of white chrysanthemums tied with red ribbon bows and cedar boughs, Catherine Reese and Lloyd Neville were married at 7 p.m. Dec. 22.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reese and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Neville, Ogden, Utah. The double ring wedding service was read by the Rev. Charles Easley at the Methodist church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin made with long sleeves and a fitted bodice. The full skirt was fashioned with a train and lace insets. Her lace-trimmed marquisette double veil was held in place by a halo of pearls. Her bouquet of red roses was tied with white and silver satin streamers.

Carol Blick, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a red velvet princess gown with a wristlet of red and white carnations and she carried a lighted candle.

The three bridesmaids, Verda Coffman, Virginia Bishop and Rachelanne Olmstead, were identical gowns of pastel green. They wore wristlets of red and white carnations and each carried a lighted candle.

Sue Dawn Reese, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her frock was made of red net. The candles were lighted by Wally Reese, brother of the bride.

The best man was Ernie Kennedy, Caldwell, and ushers were Lloyd Dreyer and Don Madson, both Caldwell, and Ronald Neville, Ogden.

Soloists were Barbara Clements, Caldwell, and Cale Conner, Fullerton, Calif. Lisbeth Shields was accompanist. She also played the wedding music.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Neville chose a black afternoon dress with red accessories, and the bride's mother wore a blue afternoon dress with black accessories. Both mothers had a corsage of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

Following the wedding service, 275 guests attended a reception at the church parlors. Shirley Blick was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Earl Hudson cut and served the cake and Mrs. Bill Jaurst served the punch. Mrs. John Blick poured coffee. Members of the WSCS assisted with the reception.

Mrs. Jack Hill, Mrs. Jay Welch, Rose Powers and Virginia Fergerson were in charge of the gift room.

For her wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the new Mrs. Neville wore a green print afternoon dress with a corsage of red roses.

The bride attended Castleford high school and the College of Idaho, Caldwell, before teaching school in Redmond, Ore.

Neville is a senior at the College of Idaho.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. J. L. Neville, Ronald Neville and Richard Neville, Ogden; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Olmstead, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reese, Mrs. Walter Underwood, Walter D. Smith, Clarence Abbott, Mrs. Katherine Hager and Alice Ann Parrett, all Twin Falls, Bob Purcell and Jim Coats, Boise; Bernice Iyoki and Mrs. Don Madson, Caldwell; Byron Simms, Hansen; Jack Baker, Nampa; Jean Marquess, Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jaurst, Idaho Falls; Mrs. Pearl Clement, Redondo Beach, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Connar and Miss Connar, Fullerton, Calif.

Party Plans Made

Plans for a Valentine party were discussed by the seventh and eighth grade Y-Teen group Wednesday evening. Vera Flynn, president, had charge of the meeting.

Following the meeting, the girls helped plan a way of the Christmas decorations in the YWCA rooms and worked on the general membership letter.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Widows and widowers marry again and why not? It is not good for men and women to be alone. They need each other. The greatest difficulty that arises in this situation has to do with the children. If the new parent cannot like them, cannot feel toward them as a father or a mother naturally would do, the marriage will not be successful. The children will become a bone of contention and remain so.

Anybody considering such a marriage should, for his own sake, consider gravely what the effect of it will be on the children and consequently upon the marriage. What sort of home will come out of this association? To make somewhat certain about the outcome every effort should be made to win the children's confidence. If that cannot be accomplished some acceptable solution must be made.

When either side cannot accept the new situation a way out for the unhappy must be found. Sometimes a relative adopts them, sometimes a boarding school or foster home makes an acceptable solution. Since separation of the parent and the children will be hard but unless there can be harmony in the household that price has to be paid. A marriage that ends off in discord cannot succeed.

But when the mistake has been made? When a ten-ace boy is not accepted by the stepfather and there is constant friction between them, what is his mother to do? She cannot leave the house, which is her home, nor the husband she has promised to stand by, nor can she eliminate the boy. She must make the best of it. Tell the boy privately the predicament he is placing his mother in and see if he will not do his best to get along with his stepfather and keep peace in the house for the few years he will remain in it.

Of course, talking to the stepfather or mother would do little good. If he or she were as easy at that to win over there would have been no trouble.

Maybe the child is to blame. Maybe. That might well be. Children can be terrible thorns in the flesh to anyone they do not like. But what then? They have to be won over. In all the years of my association with children I never have met the one that did not yield to affection. Try loving them and letting them know it.

The stepparent who is not prepared to do that for the stepchild better not enter into family association with him. It never works out.

He lazy, he loiters, he delays, he dallies—in other words, his fault is slowness. How to overcome that trait while it is being treated by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-11, "Slowness." To get a copy, send 15 cents in coin to him, c/o Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Alice Clark and Man at Gooding Marry at Home

OAREY, Jan. 6—Mrs. Alice Clark and Joseph Garro, Gooding, were married on the evening of Dec. 21 at the home of the bride in Carey. R. C. Adamson, counselor in the LDS Blaine stake presidency, read the service.

The ride Mrs. Garro chose a wine-colored street dress. Her flowers were pink carnations and red rosebuds. Mrs. Bonnie Arkoosh, Gooding, was her only attendant. Mrs. Arkoosh wore a brown dress with a corsage of pink carnations and red rosebuds.

John Arkoosh, Gooding, was best man.

Shirley Wilde, granddaughter of Mrs. Garro, played a piano solo.

A wedding supper was served to 40 guests. The wedding cake was tiered and decorated by a daughter of the bride, Mrs. Wilbur Farnworth.

For her wedding trip to Boise, Mrs. Garro chose a wine-colored dress of crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Garro will live in Gooding.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included from Sedan, Gooding: Delso Wilde, Clearfield, Utah; Bernice Glerioux, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dixon and family, and Steve Rohey, all Hailey, and Mrs. Walter Stevens, Richfield.

Gift for Church To Be Purchased By Jerome WSCS

JEROME, Jan. 6 — Devotionals concerning thoughts and resolutions for the new year were given by Mrs. H. M. Stroud Thursday afternoon when the Women's Society of Christian Service met at the Methodist church parlors.

Mrs. Fred Carlton, president, conducted the business meeting. Members discussed a memorial window for the new church and Mrs. Stroud explained a rose window. After the discussion, members voted to donate funds toward the purchase of the memorial window. Mrs. Stroud and Mrs. A. E. Martin had been named a committee to investigate types of windows.

The Rev. J. Donald Crego spoke to the gathering, explaining the Methodist church budget. The Rev. Mr. Crego also announced that the Wood River zone for ministers and their wives would be held at the Jerome church Jan. 16.

The program from the study book, "Thy Saving Health Among All Nations," was presented by Mrs. John Hosman, assisted by Mrs. Virginia McAuley and Mrs. Louis Nelson. Hymns were sung with Mrs. Loren Widrig at the piano.

The group decided to arrange and decorate their meeting room—the recreation room at the home of Mrs. Bernard Ross, as the first project.

Martha Shirk Is Wed to W. Rambo In Arizona Rites

KING HILL, Jan. 6 — Martha Shirk and Willard C. Rambo exchanged wedding vows at the First Church of Christ, Phoenix, Ariz. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Shirk, Phoenix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. A. Rambo, Meridian, and Charles L. Rambo, King Hill.

The Rev. Stephen O. Redacre read marriage service before a background of white chrysanthemums and palms. The evening wedding was held on Dec. 28.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown fashioned with a bodice of white lace and a full white satin skirt. Her bouquet was a cascade of white chrysanthemums. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Lee Shirk, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of teal taffeta trimmed in satin. Her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums.

Best man was Conrad K. Zion and the ushers were Oliver Bradford and James S. Armstrong.

A reception was held for 60 wedding guests in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony.

For the wedding trip to northern Arizona, the new Mrs. Rambo wore a gray glen plaid suit with black accessories.

Mrs. Rambo teaches school in King Hill. She attended Phoenix college and Arizona State college at Tempe. She is a member of Eta Sigma Epsilon sorority and was active in the Future Teachers of America when she was in college.

The bridegroom served with the U. S. Air force two and one-half years. He is employed by the King Hill Irrigation company.

The Rambos returned Tuesday to King Hill where they will make their home.

Pre-nuptial parties were given for the former Miss Shirk by Mrs. Lee Shirk, Meridian, and Mrs. James S. Armstrong, Phoenix.

Miss Garner and Seattle Man Are Wed at Moscow

MOSCOW, Jan. 6—Joyce O. Garner, formerly of Buhl, and William H. Simmons, Seattle, were married in Moscow. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linn Garner, now living in Boise, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lael Simmons, Seattle, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Simmons, Burley.

The evening wedding was held on Dec. 15 at St. Mark's Episcopal church. The marriage service was read by the Rev. Norman H. Stockwell, rector.

Calla lilies, holly and evergreen boughs formed the background for the candlelight ceremony. The bride chose a wedding gown of white satin with seed pearl embroidery on the bodice and the turned collar. The long sleeves ended in points at the wrist. The skirt was fashioned with a train. Her flowers were deep throated lavender orchids on a white satin muff.

Miss Garner, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her bouquet of gardenias and blue carnations was on a white satin muff. She wore a gown of blue net with a matching headdress of blue carnations.

Other attendants of the bride were Mrs. Charles Hepworth and Mrs. Frank Reich. They wore identical dresses with matching headdresses of red carnations. A gardenia centered in red carnations on a white satin muff completed the ensemble.

The bride was given in marriage by Frank Reich and James L. Simmons, II, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were John R. Simmons, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Hepworth, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Garner wore a gray crepe gown with a camellia corsage.

Following the wedding, a reception for 100 wedding guests was held at the Pi Beta Phi house. Mrs. Ruth Lotspeich was in charge of the guest book. Ada Rodgers and Mrs. Grace Martin, both Seattle, aunts of the bridegroom, assisted with the reception as did Mrs. William Van Briggs, Moscow.

For her wedding trip to Victoria, B. C., Mrs. Simmons chose a dark kelly green suit with winter white accessories.

The bride is a senior at the University of Idaho. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and served as social editor for the 1950 yearbook and was editor of the freshman handbook. She is a member of Spurs, sophomore honorary.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Idaho. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and Bench and Bar.

South Shades North 19-18 in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 6 (AP)—Bucky Curtis, Vanderbilt's rangy end, staged a sensational pass receiving performance to lead Steve Owen's south forces to a 19-18 win over the favored north in the second annual Senior bowl football game today.

The six foot, three inch Dandy wingman nabbed two touchdown tosses from Thelane's Joe Ernest and Alabama's Ed Salem, and set up the third score with a long pass.

The north staged an aerial exhibition of its own featuring Nebraska's Fran Rogel and UCLA's end Bob Wilkinson and wound up on south's one-yard line as the game ended.

The north team blew a beautiful scoring opportunity in the third quarter that would have changed the result. SMU's Kyle Rote slipped past Fran Rogel and UCLA's end Bob Wilkinson and wound up on south's one-yard line as the game ended.

A disappointing crowd of 13,232 turned out for the contest, played in mild weather under cloudy skies. Players share in the gate receipts, but the amount of the distribution wasn't immediately announced.

The south piled all its scoring in a furious second quarter, when it twice came from behind, and surged in front to stay. The north, which had relied on a bruising ground game in the first half, took to the air in the final quarter in a desperate effort to win.

Curtis' first touchdown catch was a 10-yard flat pass from Ernst. His second touchdown came on a 16-yard toss from Salem, after a 54-yard heave from the Alabama All-America passing ace put the ball in position for the score.

Curtis got a valuable assist from Missouri's Ed Stephens on the second touchdown catch. Stephens' arm deflected the ball to the Vandy star, who was sitting on the turf when the ball landed in his lap.

Actually, a conversion by Kentucky's All-American Bob Gain provided the victory margin. It came after the south's third touchdown, and was the only extra point of the game.

Georgia's Billy Mixon scored the south's third touchdown at the start of the second quarter on a four-yard sweep around end.

Oklahoma's powerhouse, Leon Heath, and killer Kyle Rote of SMU teamed two of the north's scores to wind up last year's All-Star backfield. A 17-yard toss from Nagle to the rangy Wilkinson brought Bo McMillin's north forces their third score.

Nole missed all three conversions.

In the final minute, Nagle fired three passes to Wilkinson, putting the north on the south one-yard line as the game ended.

Pioneer Loop Directors to Confer Today

POCATELLO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Pioneer baseball league directors meet here Sunday to complete a playing schedule for the 1951 season. Officially, that's the prime business before them. But manpower problems are certain to be the chief topic of discussion.

The league was forced to close down for three years during World war II. With military services calling up increasingly large numbers of men, the outlook for continued play by the organized baseball leagues is somewhat uncertain.

Seven of the eight clubs in the three-state class C league now have major league tieups. Only Boise continues on its own and owner Haydn Walker said this week he may arrange a link with a major club.

Before the directors will be three proposed playing schedules, all drafted by Floyd O. Smith of Hull, Ill., a professional schedule maker.

All three call for a season opening on April 24 and provide for a total of 140 games for each club. Length of series and home stands vary, along with the number of scheduled double headers and open dates. The season would close Sept. 9.

Last year the teams played a 126-game schedule, opening April 28 and ending Sept. 10.

Under proposed schedule No. 1, Great Falls would open at Boise, Billings at Twin Falls, Salt Lake City at Ogden, and Idaho Falls at Pocatello. Schedule No. 2 would send Billings to Boise, Great Falls to Twin Falls, Salt Lake City to Ogden and Pocatello to Idaho Falls.

The third proposed schedule would have Boise open at Twin Falls, Salt Lake City at Ogden, Pocatello at Idaho Falls and Billings at Great Falls.

Sport Stars Honored by Capitol Club

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Touchdown club of Washington tonight gave its 1950 awards to some of the country's top professional and college athletes at a gala dinner.

Vice President Alben Barkley, cabinet members, supreme court justices and other government notables along with top sports authorities were among those invited to the $15-a-plate black tie affair at a leading hotel.

Prominent men took part in presenting the awards, which went to college football players, a college coach, a pro player and a pro coach. For baseball, it was little Eddie Stanky of the New York Giants, who was named the major league comeback player of the year.

Vito (Babe) Parilli, Kentucky quarterback, won the Walter Camp memorial trophy as the outstanding back of the year.

The Maxwell Rockne memorial trophy for being an outstanding lineman went to Lewis (Bud) McFadin of Texas.

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma university walked off with the club's memorial award for the outstanding coaching job. He tutored the team rated No. 1 in the Associated Press poll.

Steve Owen, coach of the New York Giants, received an award as coach of the year in the pro divisions.

For an outstanding 1950 performance, the Touchdown group presented an award to Bob Zastrow for his part in the naval academy's 14-2 upset of Army.

Little Eddie La Baron, now a second lieutenant with the Quantico marines, was rewarded for the outstanding service player.

Boise to Sponsor Area Gun Tourney

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Boise Rifle and Pistol club announced it will sponsor a northwest regional pistol tournament here Aug. 11-12.

The Idaho state rifle and pistol association has confirmed Boise as the site of the annual shoot.

Previously the tournament has been held at Anaconda, Mont.

Club President Cecil Ray said top pistol marksmen from throughout the northwest will participate in the meet to be held on an outdoor range near the local national guard armory.

More Snow

Skiing conditions at Magic Mountain were described Saturday as the best of the season by Glauds Jones, area supervisor. He said 10 inches of fresh powder snow has fallen in the region.

Jones said skiers can obtain lifts on a hard packed surface or in the powder snow on all runs. He also reported road conditions are good. However, it is advisable to carry chains.

Sun Valley Skier Cops Slalom Title

ALTA, Utah, Jan. 6 (AP)—Ernie McCulloch, Canadian ski ace from Sun Valley, was upset at the finish line today, but slid and crawled to a snow-down nip-neck victory in the national giant slalom.

Suzy Harris Rytting, comely Salt Lake City part-time housewife, flashed through the gates at the end of the mile and one-half course to take the women's division crown.

McCulloch's spectacular spill came near the end of the treacherous course from Wildcat run, but he bounced and clawed the few remaining yards to the finish posting an impressive time of 1:41.4.

Mrs. Rytting, the only Utah entry in the women's division, turned in a time of 2:05.3 and became the first Utahn ever to win this behemoth of slalom races. But she barely edged Betty Weir, Omaha, Nebr., skiing for Sun Valley. Her time was half a second slower than Mrs. Rytting's 2:05.8.

McCulloch nearly lost the race to Gordy Wren, Steamboat Springs, Colo., Wren, in his first race since the U. S. Olympic tryouts three years ago, gave his competitors enough of a lesson to cop second with 1:43.0.

Mrs. Rytting's finish was storybookish in that she was the first of the females to traverse the 45-gate course.

Third in the male division went to Jack Reddish, Salt Lake City in 1:43.1; Jim Griffith, Ketchum, was fourth at 1:44.3, and Steve Knowlton of Aspen, Colo., placed fifth at 1:46.8.

Third in the women's divison was Elaine Holmstad, another Sun Valley lass, in 2:10.2. She won the Peruvian cup women's division at Alta last month.

NCAA to Meet Under Shadow Of War Rules

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP)—Under the shadow of possible wartime restrictions, the National Collegiate Athletic association, divided ruling house of collegiate athletics, meets next week to wrestle with its future.

Whether the NCAA will continue to police the conduct of its members under the sanity code or some variation thereof, or return to the former status is the most controversial subject to be discussed. And because of current opinions, political unpleasantness, and personal feelings, it could be a meeting of peaceful compromises or the gosh-darndest fight you ever saw.

The sanity code, briefly, limits the activities of NCAA members in recruiting athletes and in providing financial aid beyond the limits of tuition and specified incidental fees. A good many members of the organization claim it won't work in its present form. They say varying conditions at different schools make the enforcement of one national code impossible. Others are equally determined that it should be carried on in its present form.

Of almost equal concern to the representatives of some 300 educational institutions are the possible effects of military mobilization on sports programs and the influence of television on football attendance.

Ricks Hands Panthers Two Loop Defeats

REXBURG, Jan. 6—The Vikings of Ricks college made it two in a row over the Southern Idaho College of Education here Saturday by vaulting to the top basketball perch in the Intermountain conference with a 67-47 victory Friday night.

The two contests were the first of the season for Ricks in the northern division of the Intermountain Collegiate conference. It was the fourth conference loss and the eighth in nine games for the Panthers.

Ricks led all the way Saturday night and had things all to itself, 31-17, at halfway mark. Panther hopes alive for part of the game with 21 points and his outstanding backboard play.

SICE led Ricks by 14 points Friday night, but saw the Vikings rally to go ahead 34-32 at the half and "put away" with ease in the final half.

Pocatello Cagers Defeat Caldwell

POCATELLO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Pocatello took its second Idaho high school Big Six conference basketball victory of the season last night with a 51-46 win over Caldwell.

The Pocatello club trailed most of the first half but began to settle off its fast break in the second half to win going away.

Caldwell led 26-25 at the half, and with five minutes left in the game was behind 55-53.

Forward Charles Duckworth led the Pocatello team in its fast break attack, and also hit the hoop for 16 points. Hugh Stringfield of Caldwell tied him for high point honors.

Williams Flattens Gatica in First

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—How much has Ike Williams slipped? How much fighter is Jose Gatica? the answer both times is "not much."

It took only 2:06 of the first round to solve both riddles last night at Madison Square Garden. Williams, sharp and trim, chopped down the swarming little Argentine with ease, knocking him to the canvas three times in a one-title bout.

Boise Plans To Train on West Coast

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Boise Pilot baseball club probably will train "somewhere in California" this spring, Owner Haydn Walker said today.

Walker said he had visited a number of California cities in an effort to locate a suitable site.

"Lack of competition in Washington and northern Idaho has prompted the move," Walker said. Last year's Pilot team had difficulty in finding professional opponents while training at Prosser, Wash.

Walker discounted reports that the Pilots would train at Salinas, Calif. He said it is "too foggy and damp there and is not handy to training sites of other clubs."

Walker said the Pilots would join in a "Little Grapefruit league" composed of teams from the Pioneer and California state league if a suitable training site is found.

Walker, who is currently considering obtaining a tie-up with a major league team, said such a pact would not affect his choice of a training camp.

BOWL CAPTAINS PICKED

HONOLULU, Jan. 6 (AP)—Two rival Rose bowl stars, Michigan's Chuck Ortman and California's Jim Monachino, were elected co-captains today of the mainland college all-stars for a Hula bowl grid meeting Sunday with the Hawaii all-stars.

City Obtains Joe Durgan as New Manager-Pro at T.F. Golf Links

Joe Durgan, professional at the Clarkston, Wash., Golf and Country club for the past 10 years, has accepted a position as manager-professional at the Twin Falls municipal course, City Manager W. R. Smith announced Saturday. Durgan will begin his duties here March 1.

Durgan, who comes here highly recommended by golf leaders throughout the Pacific northwest, replaces Earl Schneider, pro at the local course for the past two years. The new golf leader has had 13 years of experience in Washington golf circles, as a pro, greenkeeper and golf course manager.

Durgan resigned his position at Clarkston last September. He is president of the Inland Empire Golfers Sweepstakes association. He helped found that group 10 years ago.

Durgan's employment by the city completes a series of pre-season professional golfers who have taken posts in recent months.

Durgan succeeds Schneider, who we not direct a new contract at the end of the 1950 season. Schneider has accepted the pro job at Klamath Falls, Ore. Ray Moberger, present Clarkston professional, was at Klamath Falls last year.

Before signing as Clarkston professional 10 years ago, Durgan spent three years at Downriver course in Spokane. During the past 10 years he has been active in the state and district Professional Golfers association and a delegate to PGA conventions from the Washington area.

He is 39 years old, married and the father of two small children. He currently is a director of the Lewiston Lions club and a member of the Lewiston Elks lodge.

In announcing the signing of the veteran northwest professional, City Manager Smith outlined the new duties for the position at the nine-hole municipal course.

Smith said, "The manager-pro will direct all golfing activities at the course including receiving monies, regulating play, supervising maintenance of greens, grounds and buildings, overseeing concessions, running a golf shop and teaching golf lessons."

Durgan will take over all the responsibilities formerly held by Schneider, Fred Stone, coursemaster who recently resigned, and part of the work supervised by Pete Hiskey, parks superintendent.

The signing of Durgan ends a three-month search on the part of the city officials for a new course manager and professional. During that time, applications were received from many top golf professionals in the Pacific coast and Intermountain areas.

Smith said he was pleased with the signing of Durgan, and felt he would fit into new plans for the management of the city-owned golf course.

Grid Coaches May Flock to Meet for Jobs

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The NCAA meeting in Dallas next week probably will produce many a huddle between unemployed football coaches and college chieftains seeking replacements.

Of the 15 institutions which have lost head coaches since last season, only four have named successors. These four brought up assistant coaches, meaning there are still 15 head coaches still on the loose.

Some of these are not interested in hiring a coaching profession. Those who are going into a different business include Wes Fesler of Ohio State, Blair Cherry of Texas, Marchmont Schwartz of Stanford and Wallace Wade of Duke.

Wade stepped out to become commissioner of the Southern conference.

The National Collegiate Athletic association will bring together athletic heads of some 400 institutions. The football coaches will meet at Dallas at the same time, Jan. 11-13.

The four colleges who have named new coaches are Texas, where Eddie Price was promoted to replace Cherry; Boston college, where Mike Holovak was moved up to succeed Denny Myers; Colby, where Nelson was named to replace Walt Reimer, and Virginia Tech, where Kentucky assistant Frank Moseley was named to replace Bob McNeish.

Phil's Ace May Get Discharge

CAMP PICKETT, Va., Jan. 6 (AP)—Art Houtteman, star pitcher for the Detroit Tigers last year, may be in line for a discharge.

The 23-year-old righthander has been in the hospital here since Dec. 26 undergoing a complete physical examination. It was learned yesterday.

Doctors said an injury Houtteman received in an automobile accident two years ago has caused him to have pains in his arm when near gunfire. Thus far, however, they have found nothing about the young pitcher's condition which would warrant returning him to civilian life.

Three Rookies Sign Twin Falls Contracts

The Twin Falls Cowboys signed three rookies Saturday for the 1951 Pioneer league season, Business Manager Jack Radtke announced. He said two were pitchers and one an infielder. The new Cowboys are Keith Roberts, Gresham, Ore., pitcher; Richard Tretter, Sun Valley, Calif., pitcher, and Justin Johnson, Grand Coulee, Wash., infielder. They join six holdovers from last season on the Twin Falls roster.

Roberts, a former star of American Legion ball in Oregon, throws and bats righthanded. He is 20, stands five feet, 11 inches, weighs 175 pounds and is married. During his stay in Legion ball, he hurled three no-hit games. He was signed by New York Yankee Scout Syl Johnson.

Tretter throws and bats lefthanded and comes to Twin Falls highly recommended as a pitching prospect. He is 19, stands six feet, two inches, weighs 180 pounds and is single.

Johnson worked out with the Cowboys last summer when Scout Johnson was preparing to sign the rookie. Radtke said the native of Washington showed "very good promise and probably would play a third base role" than other infield positions because of his "football-like build."

He stands six feet, one inch, weighs 193 pounds and is 22 years old. He is a switch hitter.

The three rookies join Sam Piacentino and Frank Eickhoff, outfielders; Bob Nard and Jack Palmer, infielders, and Jim Eckenberry and Eric Gard, pitchers, who were on the 1950 team.

Radtke pointed out it is doubtful if more than three of the holdover players would be able to play ball in 1951.

By BOB GILLIAM

The announcement of a new professional, or manager-pro as he will be known now, brings to light the sweeping changes that will go into affect this season at the Twin Falls municipal golf course.

Gilliam

Joe Durgan, the new pro, not only will teach golf and sell golf equipment, but he will have complete charge of the course including overseeing greens managing the clubhouse and concessions and running tournaments.

The accent on the new title of manager-pro is the first indication of the changes at the local links. City Manager W. R. Smith points out that Durgan first will be manager, then professional in the strict sense of the word.

Durgan will be answerable only to Pete Hiskey, parks superintendent, and Smith. In other words, he will be boss at the course and his word goes.

The proposed changes, which will go into effect this season, might rub some golfers the wrong way. But in the long run, the majority of the golf-playing population of the city will be better off and things should be much smoother at the course.

The changes were not planned at a drop of a hat. Smith and Hiskey have spent a lot of time considering all the angles and the two of them should be congratulated for their efforts. A lot of golfers may not thank them at first for the changes, but these same golfers probably will be thankful the changes have been made once the new system takes hold.

Rosey noses and slippery streets aren't the only things cold weather has brought Magic Valley. It's ice skating time again.

Reports have come in from Hazelton saying the ice is good now for skating at Wilson lake. This has been an old stand-by for area skaters for many years.

Twin Falls city firemen also are helping things along. Attempts were being made Saturday to flood an area at Harmon park for skating.

If you hear of any good skating locations, drop a line to the T-N and we'll act as a clearing house again this year for kating sites.

Ernie Craner is having his troubles with the Southern Idaho College of Education basketball team. They have been taking their bumps this season after nine games on the road with only one victory to show for their efforts.

It hasn't been because the team has been outclassed. Craner has coached the boys well and the Panther cagers are not lacking in talent.

The problem facing the team is one the players themselves will have to work out. Their fellow students at Albion could lend a helping hand also.

Team feuding and pet likes and dislikes broke out among the players in December when the squad dropped two in a row at Boise to the BJC Broncos. Craner ironed this out masterfully and tried to instill a spirit of team play and comradeship.

With this partly out of the way, the squad ran into another problem at Ricks Friday night that threw it for a loop. The Panthers ran up a 14-point lead and were off to the races for a victory over the Vikings. Then several decisions of the referees went against them, the team got mad and quit.

The result was a rout in which several of the players, who ran up high scores in the first half, didn't even bother to shoot in the second half.

These players, who at college age should know better, should straighten up quick for the benefit of all concerned.

Yanks Offer DiMag Same Salary Terms

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio will be offered the same salary he earned last year, General Manager George Weiss of the New York Yankees said.

Weiss declined to disclose the star outfielder's paycheck last year, but it is believed the Yankee clipper was paid $100,000.

DiMaggio's work last season included a batting average of .301 in 139 games, a homerun total of 32 and a 122 runs batted in figure. Not bad for a fellow who just celebrated his 36th birthday.

Weiss scoffed at rumors that DiMaggio was seeking a boost in salary.

Weiss said he had been in touch with Casey Stengel and reported that the Yankee manager had given up all hope of making a deal before the start of the campaign.

"Casey told me he was out of the trade market," said Weiss. "He has become convinced that he cannot make a deal that would help the club. In order to swing a trade for a man he's after he would have to give up three or four players in return. That's not good business. What with the war situation as it stands, it is not a good policy to dispose of your manpower."

Other schools entered are Washington, Montana State college, Whitman, University of British Columbia, Washington State, Wenatchee college and University of Alberta.

Boise's Hoopmen Dump Twin Falls In 54-34 Contest

BOISE, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Boise Braves won their eighth straight basketball game of the season Friday night, dumping Twin Falls 54-34 in the Boise club's opening Big Six conference tilt. The scrappy Bruins used a fast break in the opening minutes of play and jumped into a 7-2 lead.

Boise narrowed the margin and Walt Root tied the game up at 10 to 10 late in the first period. Ronnie Chase, big Boise center, flipped in a basket just as the quarter ended to give the Braves a 12-10 first quarter lead.

Twin Falls came back and took a 14-12 edge early in the second period, but Root connected with two consecutive baskets to put Boise into a 16-14 lead and they were never headed. Twin Falls trailed only 18-17 late in the second period, but a flurry of Boise baskets brought the halftime score to 26-19.

The taller Boise team dominated the backboard play in the second half and gradually pulled way. The three tall Boise pivotmen topped the scoring. Chase had 11 points and Jim Jester and Fred McDougal each 10.

Bob Falash led Twin Falls with eight points.

Bengals Down Western State In 62-46 Tilt

GUNNISON, Colo., Jan. 6 (AP)—Idaho State's Bengals bounced the Western (Colo.) State basketball team 62-46 here Friday night in a Rocky Mountain conference game which saw the visitors finish strong.

Western State hung on in the first half and at intermission the Bengals led only 30-25.

But at the beginning of the second half the Bengals began gradually widening the margin behind the shooting of Mel Clark, Dewey Cunningham, and Byron Jones.

The victory gives Idaho State nine wins against four losses. Western State has dropped nine and won only three.

Idaho State worked the backboards aggresively and handled the ball with consistent steadiness over the route.

Armed Forces Hit Buc Players Hard

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6 (AP)—Hopes of a young baseball club for the 1951 season don't look too bright for the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league.

Twenty-four Buccaneer farmhands and two stars of the big league club already are in the armed services. Forty five others face draft calls, including 10 holding deferments and six on the active reserve list.

Reese Signs '51 Dodger Contract

BROOKLYN, Jan. 6 (AP)—Harold (Pee Wee) Reese, veteran Brooklyn Dodger shortstop, has returned his signed contract for a reported $30,000 salary.

The 31-year-old club captain told Vice President Buzzie Vasasi in a phone conversation he regarded 1950 as an "off year" and looked for a comeback next season.

Once Mighty Gaels Drop Pigskin Play

MORAGA, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—A deluge of red ink washed St. Mary's famed Gaels from the nation's gridiron and coursed an angry warning today through the collegiate sports world.

The first major football power to abandon intercollegiate competition for the duration of the national emergency, St. Mary's decision came as a stunning jolt to the followers of the Catholic school.

For an unbroken period of 48 years, on football fields from the Pacific coast to the Polo grounds in New York, the Gael teams have fought it out with the best of them. Not even during World war II did they give up the game.

But now, confronted with a sports deficit for 1950 which some say may run as high as $150,000, the St. Mary's board of trustees "has with some reluctance reached the decision that intercollegiate football and baseball must be discontinued . . ."

Only basketball will be played until things straighten out.

With many colleges concerned over declining gate receipts, television and an impending war economy which may slash deep into manpower, St. Mary's thus followed the course taken earlier by several smaller schools.

St. Mary's dropped the game just at the time it was building back to power after a postwar slump. Head Coach Joe Ruetz, losing only six seniors from this year's varsity, was looking ahead eagerly to next season, when he expected to end the lean years. A fine freshman squad, plus several outstanding transfers, was expected to give him the needed manpower.

Colags, BYU Score Wins In Loop Play

By The Associated Press

Colorado A and M and Brigham Young started their Skyline Six basketball campaigns on winning notes Friday night, BYU serving notice that it intends to do some plain and fancy scrapping in defense of its conference title.

At Denver BYU showed plenty of speed and a wealth of scoring power in downing Denver 53-47.

At Salt Lake City the Aggies upset Utah 48-46 for their second win over the Utes since 1935 when the two schools first began playing. The only other Utah basketball defeat at the hands of the Aggies came in 1946.

Top sharpshooters for Brigham Young's Cougars were Roland Minson with 16 points and a pair of sophomores, Joe Richie and Harold Christensen, each with 11.

The Cougars led 27-18 at the half, but Denver sliced it to 48-45 by the end of the third quarter. BYU bounced back, taking over the ball in the final minutes, shaking speedy Jerry Romney loose for two quick setups to tuck it away down the home stretch.

Scoring star for the Colorado Aggies against Utah was Glen Anderson, who pitched in 23 points, 14 of them in the first half, helping the Ags build their halftime edge of 25-23.

In the closing moments a pair of free throws broke a 44-44 tie in favor of the Aggies. Then Anderson slapped in a layup shot to make it 48-44.

Utah's Glen Sanford then picked up two points on free throws and that was the ball game.

Glen Smith was high for Utah with 16 points.

ROYALS SIGN COX

MONTREAL, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Montreal Royals of the International baseball league have purchased Glen Cox, who played with Billings of the Pioneer league last season. Cox had a 14-7 pitching record with the Mustangs.

Defends Title

Eddie Williams, current Pacific Coast lightheavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his title here Tuesday night against rough and ready Dale Haddock in the feature match of the weekly wrestling program at the Radio Rondevoo. Williams, a popular attraction here last winter and spring, recently won the title in California. He is recognized as coast champ by athletic commissions in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Idaho.

Hailey, Heyburn Cage Squads Take Victories

The Hailey Wolverines and the Heyburn Panthers, the two teams rated as pre-season favorites for the district class B crown, came through with victories Friday night but in different ways. Hailey had to come from behind to nip Glenns Ferry 46-44 while Heyburn was running wild to wallop Kimberly 74-58.

* * * *

Other class B action in the valley saw Eden stop Murtaugh 41-34, Paul wallop Hazelton 66-45, Hagerman beat Wendell 38-29, Twin Falls sophs down Hansen's varsity 62-45, Declo stop Acequia 57-43, Shoshone outclass Richfield 56-22, Carey beat Malta 37-25 and Bliss trip Gooding State 40-31.

Hailey, which has had trouble winning games by comfortable margins this season, was hard pressed all the way to down Coach Gordon Brown's smooth Glenns Ferry Pilots. Hailey used its height advantage to produce the slim win.

The first quarter saw the squads tied at 14-14 and Glenns Ferry went ahead 27-26 at the half. Hailey ran up its victory margin in the third quarter, then held on as Glenns Ferry came back in the final frame to move within two points of the victors.

Jay Buhler led Hailey with 17 points, while Anderson produced a like number for the Pilots. Hailey also won the junior varsity preliminary game 38-29.

Heyburn, paced by the outstanding play of Gale Stimpson and the high scoring of Bus Connor, romped over Kimberly. Coach Ted Hanks' defending district champs ran up a nine-point lead before Kimberly found the range. The closest the Bulldogs came was six points at the end of the first quarter.

In addition to monopolizing backboard play, Stimpson added 19 points to the Heyburn total. Connor tallied 21. Al Stapp led Kimberly with 17 points followed by Tate with 15.

Heyburn also won the junior varsity game in a close 34-32 tussle.

Eden ran into a stubborn Murtaugh squad and had to hustle to come through with a 41-34 victory. The veteran Eden squad raced to a 14-4 first quarter lead, but Murtaugh shifted from a man-to-man to a zone defense to narrow the margin to 18-14 at the half.

It was basket for basket for the remainder of the game as Coach Warren Okelberry kept his underdog Murtaugh cagers shifting defenses. It kept Eden off balance and held the high-scoring Grizzlies in check.

Newbry topped Eden with 13 points, while Bessire was high for Murtaugh with eight.

Paul loosened up from long range and walked over Hazelton 66-38 at Paul. The Panthers, headed this season by Deward Bell, started connecting on long shots and ended the evening with a 50 per cent average on their attempts. Loosile paced Paul with 14 points. Grant was high for Hazelton with 11.

Paul also won the junior varsity game 49-37.

Hagerman saw its 12-4 first quarter lead melt away as Wendell came back strong in the second and third quarters before the Pirates put the game away for good for a 38-29 victory at Hagerman.

The score was tied 17-17 at the half, but Hagerman went back in front 26-22 at the start of the final quarter. Hagerman reserves finished the game and protected the margin.

Krumm paced the Pirates with 16 points. Peterson topped Wendell with nine. Hagerman also won the junior varsity preliminary contest.

Twin Falls sophomores stayed at home while the varsity was taking its knocks at Boise to shellack Hansen's varsity 62-45. Twin Falls, handled by Assistant Coach Murray Satterfield, ran up big margins in the early part of the game and played 12 men before the final whistle blew.

Roberts paced the sophs to their victory with 14 points, while Ken Daw was high for Hansen with 14.

Twin Falls freshmen, coached by Dan Folkins, routed Hansen's jayvees 65-19 in the preliminary game.

Gary Simmons led Twin Falls with 17 points, while Lenoard Daw was high for Hansen with eight.

Declo's zone defense was too much for the Acequia Indians and the Hornets took a 57-43 win at Acequia. Declo led 27-18 at the half and was never in trouble to the final whistle.

Vosberg and Guteriez tallied 16 points each for Declo, while Kent, Wilske and Blevins had 10 each for Acequia.

Shoshone had little trouble downing an outmanned Richfield team 56-22 at Shoshone. The Indians held a 13-2 margin at the end of the first frame and pushed it along to 23-5 at the half. The Indians had to hustle to win the junior varsity game 26-25. R. H. Silvey scored 19 points for Richfield, while Walston tallied nine for Shoshone.

Carey capitalized on an early lead then coasted in for a 37-25 victory over a travelling Malta team. Carey ran up a 14-5 first quarter lead and held a 19-10 margin at the half. Malta closed the score to 25-20 at the start of the final frame. Coates led Carey with 10 points, while G. Anderson had 12 for Malta.

Bliss downed Gooding State in a rough game at Bliss. Stroud paved the way for the win with 13 points and sparked Bliss' second quarter drive that broke a close score. In a preliminary game, Bliss girls waxed King Hill girls 71-49.

Wendell's Gem Staters Set Fast Pace for Outlaw Teams

WENDELL, Jan. 6—Sizzling is the word for the Gates Brothers Gem Staters outlaw basketball team.

All this quintet has done is topple nine straight Idaho foes, averaging a healthy 83 points a game to 48 for the opposition. The enemy teams include the best southern Idaho has to offer.

"The Gem Staters are the best independent team I've seen in Idaho in 25 years of being connected with basketball," their veteran manager, Bill Austin, Wendell, proudly declares.

Austin conceived the idea of a "super-duper" outlaw quintet, and Charles Gates, agreed to back the team.

All the members of the team have regular jobs in Magic Valley.

Murray Satterfield, for instance, the former Utah All-American, is a teacher and assistant coach at Twin Falls high school. This former Aberdeen star has a 24-point game average.

Jim Wallace of Glenns Ferry, former Southern Idaho college of Education star and now coach at Castleford, has a 17-point average. Roy Irons, former Oklahoma and Idaho star and now a teacher at Wendell, has averaged 12 points.

That trio generally leads the scoring, but other squad members turn in some sterling defensive play and adept feeding of the ball to the point makers. The other two starters usually are George Kyle, former Pocatello, Idaho State and Utah performer and now frosh coach at Kimberly, and George Powell, former Shoshone high and Idaho ace and now eighth grade coach at Kimberly.

Ray Turner, Twin Falls grad and ex-Idaho luminary, is coach and reserve player. Other performers are Vern Ellis, Buhl, former Utah State player; Gene Kilroy, ex-Denver U performer and now coach at Filer; Berle Passmore, Wendell, Bliss high ace, and George Benson, Wendell high grad and now a grocer here.

Their future schedule includes:

Jan. 1-13—Shoshone outlaw tournament.

Jan. 16—Red & White Store of Twin Falls at Wendell in polio benefit.

Jan. 18—at American Falls.

Jan. 20—at Boise vs. Statesman.

Jan. 22—Gooding Elks at Wendell.

Jan. 25—at Rupert vs. Lions.

Jan. 30-Feb. 3—Gooding outlaw tournament.

Buhl Nips Jerome Tigers 32-3[illegible] Rupert, Burley Win Loop Ope[illegible]

The 1951 chase for the basketball championship of the tough Big Seven confer[illegible]ed Friday night with the Rupert Pirates and the Burley Bobcats posting expect[illegible] and the Buhl Indians upsetting Jerome in a hectic game at Buhl.

Rupert ran into unexpected strength but weathered the storm for a 67-44 vi[illegible] Gooding at Gooding, Burley found the Filer squad tough but came through with a 60-46 win and Buhl nipped Jerome 32-30. The Oakley Hornets drew a bye in league action.

Play was nip and tuck at Buhl and Coach Lee Popplewell's Indians played inspired ball before a capacity hometown crowd. The score was deadlocked at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter, but by the half, Buhl went in front 17-12.

Jerome came back to tie the score at 23-23 as the fourth quarter opened but Buhl went ahead seconds later as Brown started hitting the hoop for Buhl. The Indians went back in front and played a ball control game to preserve their slim lead.

Brown paced Buhl, scoring 12 points, while Evans was high for Jerome with 11.

Jerome downed Buhl 31-28 in junior varsity play. Hymas topped Jerome with 10 points, while Metcalf led Buhl with six.

Rupert had little trouble running up a big lead against Gooding, but Coach George Hays was forced to play his outstanding starting team most of the way to handcuff the Senators.

Abbie Uriguen paved the way for the victory with 25 points, followed by Billy Hays with 21. Osborne topped Gooding with 14 points.

Only one Rupert reserve player broke into the scoring column. The rest was done by the starting five.

Coach A. Vincen Carter's Senators were pleased with their showing against the rampaging Pirates and their play indicated a tougher Gooding squad as the season progresses.

Rupert's jayvees downed Gooding 36-15. It was the first loss of the season for the Gooding yearlings.

Burley jumped away for a 16-6 first quarter lead, but saw Filer come back to narrow the margin to 28-21 at the half. Burley had to play its best ball to run up a 14-point winning margin in the second half.

Burton paced Coach Rulon Budge's hoopsters with 22 points, followed by Bateman and Smith with 14 each. Gary Allison led Filer's scoring with 20 points.

Coast Loop Bans T[illegible] From All 1951 Gam[illegible]

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—Officials of th[illegible] Coast conference headed today for the National [illegible] Athletic association convension at Dallas after [illegible] most turbulent winter meetings in its history. Hi[illegible] the session were:

The possible withdrawal of the conference from the post-season Rose bowl football game.

A proposal that spring football practice be abolished by all the NCAA member schools.

Banning of live televising of conference football games next fall.

"We feel that the conference took real steps to relieve the pressure now placed on intercollegiate athletics, particularly football," said Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt.

The decision regarding the Rose bowl will be made at a special meeting in San Francisco "soon after the NCAA meeting."

The conference adopted a resolution seeking to have the NCAA amend its constitution to bar spring practice. Such a measure, if adopted, could not become effective until 1952.

Television got the heave-ho because the conference believes it was a factor in declining attendance. The delegates, Schmidt said, were disturbed by the decrease in attendance receipts.

"They felt that the intercollegiate athletic program was an integral part of the community life and that actual attendance at the contest contributed much to the development of the individual, including students and players, from the standpoint of appreciation and interest," said the spokesman.

There was also the reported decline in attendance and interest in high school, junior and small college contests in areas where conference games were televised, he added.

The games may be filmed and shown on TV screens after the game, but not on days or nights when another contest is being played.

H. Leslie Hoffman, head of the radio corporation that sponsored 30 PCC games last year on a gate guarantee basis, said in Los Angeles that the conference action to ban TV came as "a complete bombshell."

"It may very well be that the elimination of telecasting of football in 1951 will point the direction to go in 1952," Hoffman said. "Meanwhile, the process of developing new football fans from the nearly 1,000,000 television set owners in the Pacific Coast area marks time.

Bosox Deny Plan To Trade Slugger

BOSTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin laughed off a published report today that Ted Williams, the Boston American leaguers' slugging outfielder, would be traded to the Philadelphia Athletics.

"Ted's being traded or sold once a week according to various press and radio reports," grinned Joe. He added:

"Well, Williams is not going to be sold or traded—period."

The latest "trade," in a Boston paper (Post) had Williams going to the A's in exchange for pitchers Lou Brissie, Bobby Shantz, Joe Coleman and first baseman Ferris Fain.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—
Stocks—Mixed; late strength buoys list.
Bonds—Mixed; trading quiet.
Cotton—Irregular; liquidation offsets trade buying.
Chicago:
Wheat—Easy; scattered liquidation.
Corn—Easy; possible price freeze fears.
Oats — Easy; influenced by other grains.
Soybeans—Weak; price freeze feared.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Last minute strength, mostly in the automobile sections today lifted the stock market enough to take it out of the losing category.

Before the late buying appeared, the market was a quiet affair with most prices leaning downward.

Steels, motors and rails were the major groups in the center of trading activity and price weakness.

The volume of trading was an estimated 1,200,000 shares.

Losses were pretty generally held to a dollar a share or under throughout.

Downside stocks included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Studebaker, International Telephone, New York Central, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., Kennecott Copper, American Smelting, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Schenley, Philco, Air Reduction, United Air Lines and American Woolen.

On the higher side were Goodrich, Woolworth, J. I. Case, International Nickel, McIntyre-Porcupine, General Electric, International Paper, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate and U. S. Gypsum.

Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Scattered liquidation sent grains fractionally to several cents down on the board of trade today. Soybeans lost the most. Selling pressure was not very heavy, but buyers appeared to have lost their enthusiasm for cereals.

One reason for the more cautious attitude, traders said, was the possibility that a 30-day price freeze might be set on all products, including food, over the weekend. In addition, there was moderate liquidation.

Wheat closed ¾-1⅞ lower, March 2.45⅜-¼; corn was ⅞-1⅜ lower, March [illegible]; oats were ¼-⅝ lower, March 97⅞-¼; rye was 2 to 2¾ lower, May [illegible]; soybeans were 2 to 3⅞ lower, January 3.11, and lard was unchanged to 20 cents per 100 lbs. lower, January 18.27.

Rupert Suit Asks Sale Cancellation

RUPERT, Jan. 6—John P. Hutton, guardian for Ida M. LaRue, has filed suit against James R. Crowe and Ruby C. Crowe, Rupert, to nullify sale of a 40-acre farm.

According to the complaint, the Rev. and Mrs. Crowe last Sept. 6 purchased a farm belonging to Ida LaRue for $12,000. Hutton claims the property was worth $18,000.

Hutton was appointed guardian on Dec. 16, 1950.

District Judge Hugh A. Baker has set 10 a. m. Monday for the defendants to show why they should not be restrained from taking possession of the property until such time as the suit is settled.

S. T. Lowe represents Hutton.

Deep-Sea Fishing Is Speaker Topic

RUPERT, Jan. 6 — Darwin Goff was guest speaker at Rotary luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Prior to his purchase of the Hi-Way Service station a few months ago, he spent some time in commercial deep-sea fishing on the west coast.

He described the boats used and communication and fishing methods used.

The program committee announced that farmer's night will be 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Catholic Parish hall, with the program furnished by the Farmer's institute members.

Pruett Traces January Skies To Find Stars

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division, Oregon Higher Education System

Another year has started and so has the second half of the 20th century. The first half of the century was not completed until the end of 1950, the arguments of the few to the contrary notwithstanding.

And on Jan. 2 the earth was at its closest approach to the sun for the year—approximately 91,500,000 miles—a condition known as perihelion.

Venus in Southwest

If your eyes are good and the sky is clear, you doubtless can spot brilliant Venus in the southwest sometime before it dips beneath the horizon an hour after sunset. But this beautiful planet will move continuously into better observing positions and by late spring will be setting in the northwest fully three hours after the sun.

Mercury now is in the dawn sky but not in a good observing position. Red Mars still is in the evening sky, setting in the west southwest over two hours after sunset, but because of distance no longer is a conspicuous object.

Jupiter Brilliant

Jupiter is quite brilliant in the southwest during the early evening. Yellow Saturn rises almost due east around 11 p. m.

For study of the so-called fixed stars, observe at about 8 p. m. Planets are not stars but worlds. If we draw a line upward from the southeastern horizon towards the zenith, we pass in succession several conspicuous stars. Nearest the skyline we encounter the brilliant flashing Sirius, the dog star, and the brightest to us of any of the real stars.

3 Conspicuous Stars

Higher in the sky our tracing goes through a short line of three conspicuous stars, the belt of the great Orion. To the right and below the belt, blue-white Rigel glitters in splendor; to the left and above, red Betelgeuse is spotted easily. Highest of the bright objects in our line is orange Aldebaran, the eye of the bull.

Only a little east of overhead, yellow Capella is very bright. Considerably below Capella and about due east, the twin stars Castor and Pollux are prominent. Pollux is the more orange, the brighter and lower of the two.

Vega Low

Low in the northwest, bright Vega scintillates. A little higher, Deneb heads the Northern Cross.

A correspondent recently suggested that the monthly sky reviews explain how to find the stars and planets at other times than around the first of the month. This is easy for the stars.

Due to the revolution of the earth around the sun, the stars will come to the same positions approximately half an hour earlier each succeeding week.

A week from now they will come to the positions described above at 7:30 p. m.; two weeks later, at 7 p. m., etc. Jupiter and Saturn will work quite well by the same rule, but the other planets, especially Mercury, usualy require individual statements.

Cooperation Day Slated at Rupert

RUPERT, Jan. 6—The second annual "cooperation day" will be held by the Rupert merchants Monday, Jan. 15, in connection with the farm meeting being arranged by the county cooperative education committee, Robert Nelson, secretary, announces.

Featured speaker at the program to be held at 1:30 p.m. at the civic auditorium, will be Dr. Lazlo Volka, refugee from Hungary. His topic will be "Behind the Iron Curtain." Dr. Volka is professor of economics at Washington State college.

The merchants plan to feature "cooperation day" specials. Cooperation day stickers will be placed on silver dollars to remind people of the date.

Dietrich Events Listed by People

DIETRICH, Jan. 6—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Nicklaus and family, Ogden, have been guests of his sister, Mrs. O. W. Bingham, and his mother, Mrs. Harriet Nicklaus.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weiss and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Beckley and Mr. and Mrs. Royal Carden, Carey, have returned from visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hebert in Boise.

Wilbur and Lester Jensen, students at Idaho State college, who were home for the holidays, have returned to Pocatello to resume their studies.

Brakes Used on Ice; Car Strikes Utility Pole

The use of brakes on this 1949 Kaiser sedan sent it sliding off the icy pavement and into the borrow pit where it traveled 129 feet before crashing into a power pole one-half mile east of Hansen Saturday. The car was driven by Lucille Holt, Portland, Ore. Elizabeth Simnat, Detroit, Mich., a passenger in the car, was treated by a Kimberly physician for injuries received in the mishap. Note hole in windshield caused by passenger's head. (Photo by State Patrolman M. J. Boys, jr.—staff engraving)

Woman Injured as Car Leaves Icy Road, Strikes Power Pole

Elisabeth Simnat, 40, 7616 East Nevada avenue, Detroit, Mich., was treated for a wrenched back, sprained ankle, cuts and face lacerations when a car in which she was a passenger went into the borrow pit at 11 a.m. Saturday one-half mile east of Hansen.

The car was driven by Lucille Holt, 22, 3820 SW Front street, Portland, Ore. According to investigating officers, the car, a 1950 Kaiser sedan, went out of control and into the pit when the driver applied her brakes on the icy road surface. The car traveled 129 feet before striking a utility pole. Damage was estimated at $500.

The injured passenger was released after treatment by a Kimberly physician.

No injuries resulted but one vehicle was damaged considerably when it crashed into a second vehicle standing at the side of the road at 11:10 a.m. at the west village limits of Hansen.

Police said John C. Hill, 66, Hansen, started to drive onto U. S. highway 30 and then stopped to allow an approaching car to pass. The driver of the second car, Carl D. Fuller, 60, Burley, thinking too little space would not permit driving in front of Hill's car, attempted to pass from behind. He struck Hill's car causing approximately $250 damage to the front and of his own car. Hill's car was damaged only slightly.

A sudden application of brakes caused a car to skid into the path of an approaching auto at 5 p.m. Saturday, five miles southwest of Twin Falls on a low-line canal bridge.

According to police, Mrs. A. H. Horner, Twin Falls, driving a 1948 Dodge sedan, met an approaching 1947 Dodge coupe driven by Glen Gott, 27, Filer, while crossing the bridge. Mrs. Horner's car skidded when she applied brakes to pass and the two cars collided.

Damages were estimated at about $75 to each car. No one was injured.

A pickup truck pulling a house-trailer collided with an automobile at 10:50 a.m. Saturday at Hollister, resulting in only moderate damages to the three vehicles.

Investigating officers said Enos Volbrecht, 32, Los Angeles, applied the brakes of his truck while going through Hollister and skidded approximately 180 feet into a car driven by Harry C. Wambolt, Amsterdam. Wambolt was waiting to drive onto U. S. highway 93.

Brakes Used on Ice; Car Strikes Utility Pole

The use of brakes on this 1950 Kaiser sedan sent it sliding off the icy pavement and into the borrow pit where it traveled 129 feet before crashing into a power pole one-half mile east of Hansen Saturday. The car was driven by Lucille Holt, Portland, Ore. Elizabeth Simmat, Detroit, Mich., a passenger in the car, was treated by a Kimberly physician for injuries received in the mishap. Woman Injured as Car Leaves Icy Road, Strikes Power Pole

Elizabeth Simmak, 40, 7616 East Nevada avenue, Detroit, Mich., was treated for a wrenched back, sprained ankle, cuts and face lacerations when a car in which she was a passenger went into the borrow pit at 11 a.m. Saturday one-half mile east of Hansen.

The car was driven by Lucille Holt, 23, 3230 SW Front street, Portland, Ore. According to investigating officers, the car, a 1950 Kaiser sedan, went out of control and into the pit when the driver applied her brakes on the icy road surface. The car traveled 129 feet before striking a utility pole. Damage was estimated at $500.

The injured passenger was released after treatment by a Kimberly physician.

No injuries resulted but one vehicle was damaged considerably when it crashed into a second vehicle standing at the side of the road at 11:10 a.m. at the west village limits of Hansen.

Police said John C. Hill, 68, Hansen, started to drive onto U. S. highway 30 and then stopped to allow an approaching car to pass. The driver of the second car, Carl B. Fuller, 30, Burley, thinking too little space would not permit driving in front of Hill's car, attempted to pass from behind. He struck Hill's car causing approximately $250 damage to the front end of his own car. Hill's car was damaged only slightly.

A sudden application of brakes caused a car to skid into the path of an approaching auto at 5 p.m. Saturday, five miles southwest of Twin Falls on a bowline canal bridge.

According to police, Mrs. A. H. Horner, Twin Falls, driving a 1948 Dodge sedan, met an approaching 1947 Dodge coupe driven by Glen Colt, 27, Filer, while crossing the bridge. Mrs. Horner's car skidded when she applied brakes to pass and the two cars collided.

Damages were estimated at about $75 to each car. No one was injured.

A pickup truck pulling a house-trailer collided with an automobile at 10:20 a.m. Saturday at Hollister, resulting in only moderate damages to the three vehicles.

Investigating officers said Enos Volbrecht, 42, Los Angeles, applied the brakes of his truck while going through Hollister and skidded approximately 160 feet into a car driven by Harry C. Wambolt, Amsterdam. Wambolt was waiting to drive onto U. S. highway 93.
